Of Threatening Action By Kremlin's Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has embarked on a policy of calling the Soviet Union's bluff each time it believes Kremlin leaders are threatening action they never will dare carry out.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter disclosed that tough new line Thursday in blasting Soviet threats to send troops to the violence-tracked Congo.

Ike Calls For Talks To Go On

US Plans to Put Soviet Union On The Defensive

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower's call for resumption of disarmament talks to reduce war risk was reported today to be part of U.S. strategy aimed at putting the Soviet Union on the defensive.

The President announced Thursday night that the United States wants an early meeting of representatives of all 82 United Nations countries for urgent discussion of a way out of the arms race.

In a statement issued at the summer White House, Eisenhower said he had instructed Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief of the U.S. delegation to the U.N., to petition today for speedy revival of disarmament negotiations. Lodge arranged to do so.

In sounding his call for new talks by all U.N. members, Eisenhower recalled the Soviet delegates had walked out of the 10-nation disarmament negotiations at Geneva last month. At the time he United States was about to outline new proposals.

"Our efforts to get the Soviet Union to return to the conference table through normal diplomatic channels have not met with success," Eisenhower said.

"The need for disarmament in the present world situation is too important to set aside at the present time when deliberations are being made to increase tensions."

That was an obvious allusion to the many-sided anti-American campaign the Soviet Union has been carrying on since Premier Nikita Khrushchev wrecked the Paris summit conference last May.

Eisenhower went on to say that under its charter the United Nations has primary responsibility in the disarmament field.

Then he announced that he had instructed Lodge to seek "an early meeting of the Disarmament Commission of the United Nations so that we and other members of the international community can continue to search for ways and means to achieve the universal desire to reduce the risk of war by controlled steps of disarmament." Such a meeting of the 82-nation membership requires a majority vote, at least 42 votes.

After the President's call Thursday night, U.N. diplomats expressed belief that the U.S. request for an early meeting would be approved.

However, many delegates—including some Western Allies—were extremely cool toward the idea.

These delegates expressed belief there appears to be little prospect for disarmament progress while the tension in East-West relations is mounting.

Cost of Living Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living climbed one-fifth of one per cent in June to its fourth consecutive high, the Labor Department reported today.

Food prices—mainly fresh fruits and pork—contributed virtually all the rise, the department said, but gasoline prices helped provide an upward shove.

The consumer price index reached a level of 126.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This was two points higher than a year ago and, in percentage terms, represented a drop in the buying power of the dollar of more than 1½ cents in the past 12 months.

State Launches Case Against Dr. Finch

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The state launches its case against Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff today—for the second time.

Jury alternates were selected Thursday and the prosecution announced it would go ahead with its opening statement. The 42-year-old surgeon and his 23-year-old sweetheart are accused of murdering his wife last July.

Their first trial ended in a hung jury.

To Make Another Attack

Soviets Go Before UN Council Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union goes before the U.N. Security Council today with another slashing attack on the United States, charging deliberate violation of Soviet borders by American spy planes.

The attack was expected to touch off a major cold war clash with the United States, which will reply Monday.

President Eisenhower instructed U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to hit back hard in accordance with Washington's tough new line toward Soviet threats and accusations.

One of the Kremlin's top diplomats, Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, was to deliver a detailed, all-afternoon speech which Soviet sources said would conclude with a demand for condemnation of the United States as an aggressor.

The Soviet complaint to the council was titled "New aggressive acts by the Air Force of the United States against the Soviet Union, creating a threat to universal peace."

The complaint grew out of the shooting down of a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane over the Barents Sea by a Soviet jet fighter July 1. The Soviet Union charged that the aircraft was over Soviet waters on an espionage mission.

The Russians are holding two of the plane's six crewmen and are expected to try them as spies. The Russians recovered the body of the plane's pilot, and the other three crewmen are missing.

The United States claims the plane was surveying magnetic lines of force in arctic waters for mapping and was shot down over international waters. The State Department said it was never closer than 30 miles to the Soviet shores.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has cited the RB47 incident as one of a series in a provocative Soviet campaign against the United States.

The present case is the fourth in which the Soviet Union has attacked the United States in the Security Council since the collapse of the summit conference two months ago.

The first was the U2 spy plane case. The Soviet Union sought to have the United States branded as an aggressor but failed. Earlier this week the Soviet Union backed Cuba's charges of economic aggression by the United States. In the Congo debate the Russians charged the United States had illegally sent military personnel to the chaotic African republic.

Harwood Man Dies In Truck-Car Crash

NEVADA, Mo. (AP)—A 22-year-old man from Harwood, Mo., Donald Dwain Redemer, was killed in a truck-car accident at the intersection of routes AA and EE about 17 miles northeast of Nevada.

Trooper Jim Peacock of the Missouri Highway Patrol, said Redemer, traveling alone in a pickup truck, ran a stop sign into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Elsie Hillier, 52, of Schell City.

Taft-Eisenhower Battle Echoes In GOP Circles

CHICAGO (AP)—Conservative Republicans raised echoes of the 1952 Taft-Eisenhower battle today in opposition to the possible choice of Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. as the GOP vice presidential candidate.

Lodge, now serving as United Nations ambassador, is reported high up on a brief personal list from which Vice President Richard M. Nixon plans to choose his running mate, provided all goes well and Nixon gets the presidential nomination he expects.

Among the practical politicians gathering here for next week's GOP convention there is no shadow of a doubt that once Nixon has named his man the delegates in the end will accept him. But many thought there still is time left to influence Nixon's judgment.

In this connection, Rep. B. Carroll Reece, Tennessee state chairman, said he has found strong opposition among backers of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio to having Lodge on the ticket.

Reece said the Taft men, who still form a considerable wing of the party, have tabbed Lodge as the originator of the Texas delegate "steal" charges that were used by President Eisenhower's associates in the 1952 convention maneuvering.

Ralph F. Gates, Indiana national committeeman, said he has been told that the Republican ticket might lose some important midland newspaper support if Lodge is named. He said this was based on opposition to Lodge's so-called internationalist views.

John T. Diederich, Kentucky committeeman, is booming home-state Sen. Thurston B. Morton, the GOP national chairman, for second place on the ticket. Diederich said he had encountered opposition to Lodge from some Taft Republicans.

Bluffing

Threats and more threats are constantly in the headlines. They are all just like the weatherman's: you never know when they'll carry them out.

Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers and thunderstorms Friday night and Saturday; little change in temperature. Low Friday night 71; high Saturday 86.

The temperature Friday was 73 at 7 a.m. and 81 at 1 p.m. Low Thursday night was 68.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 88, low 68; two years ago, high 79, low 62; three years ago, high 90, low 72.

Lake of Ozarks stage: 58.1 feet; 1.9 below full reservoir; no change.

Makes Second Motion

To Give Way For UN Force To Move In

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council early today made its second demand in nine days that Belgian troops get out of the Congo and give way to the new U.N. military force. The Soviet Union dropped an attempt to set a three-day deadline for the pullout.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov joined in a unanimous vote for a Ceylonese-Tunisian resolution that called on Belgium to withdraw its forces speedily from the new African republic.

The resolution backed up the Council resolution of July 14 sending the U.N. force to the chaotic central African nation and calling for the Belgian withdrawal.

The new resolution also asked U.N. members not to "undermine the territorial integrity" of the Congo, whose rich Katanga Province has declared its secession—with Belgian connivance, the Congolese government and the Russians charge.

Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny repeated his government's earlier assurance that the Belgian troops would be withdrawn "as soon as the United Nations can ensure order and safety." He pointed out that a phased withdrawal from Leopoldville, the Congo capital, had started.

Wigny said the unity of the Congo was consecrated by Belgian law and that Belgium, since setting the Congo free July 1, had not intervened in its former territory's internal affairs beyond providing technical assistance.

"It is for the Congolese to decide their own fate," he declared.

Government circles in Brussels indicated the Belgian government still planned to pull the troops back to Belgium's two military bases in the Congo—Kilima and Kamina—and not pull them out of the country. These sources said the resolution did not call for total withdrawal from the Congo and pointed out it did not mention the bases, which Belgium retained under a friendship and assistance treaty she signed with the new Congo government when independence was granted.

In the debate before the Council vote, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov told U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge that his government would not be bullied into backing down on Premier Nikita Khrushchev's promise to give the Congo any help necessary to stop what Moscow terms aggression.

Officers Wives To Attend UN Incident Debate

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The wives of four U.S. Air Force officers shot down by the Russians were to attend today's United Nations debate on the incident.

The women left Kansas City aboard a commercial airliner Thursday night for New York. They are the wives of 1st Lt. John R. McKone, 1st Lt. Oscar L. Goforth, Capt. Eugene E. Posa and Capt. Willard G. Palm.

Six fliers were aboard a RB47 jet bomber shot down near Russia. Russia says it is holding McKone and 1st Lt. Freeman Olmstead prisoner and that Palm's body has been found. The others are missing.

Officers and men of the 55th Reconnaissance Wing at Forbes Air Force Base, Kan., collected money for the fliers' wives to make the trip from their homes in Topeka to New York. The women were driven from Topeka to Kansas City. They refused to talk with newsmen here.

Southern Baptist Members Organize Wherever They Go

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
ATLANTA (AP)—A marble polisher in Tampa, Fla., lost his job and moved to his wife's native town of Rochester, N.Y., to find work.

The couple's Tampa pastor, finding that Rochester had no Southern Baptist church, wrote the Baptist Mission Board. An area missionary was called, which led in short order to the establishment of a mission and, ultimately, a Southern Baptist church.

Thirty-five Southern Baptist members of a bomber wing, transferred from Roswell, N.M., to Portsmouth, N.H., found themselves without a church. They made contact with an area missionary and soon had themselves a place of worship.

The process is being repeated with variations hundreds of times in the pioneer areas of the Southern Baptist Church.

In 1941, Southern Baptists started a movement called Pioneer Missions, operated by the Home Mission Board, with headquarters in Atlanta. At that time there were Southern Baptist churches in 19 states. Today there are churches or missions in every state except Hawaii.

"A mission is a characteristic beginning of a Southern Baptist church," says Dr. A. B. Cash, pioneer director of the Home Mission Board.

"The word 'mission' has to do with the early stages of development of a church in an area where there's a need for one."

"The board gives direction and leadership as well as financial help by supplementing the salary of a pastor and helping to obtain property for a permanent building."

"The area missionary is leading the expansion in pioneer fields," adds Cash. "His primary function is to start new work."

Walter Knight, editor of Home Missions, a Baptist publication, says most area missionaries are young, well-educated and usually former pastors.

"The area missionary makes surveys and meets groups in early stages," he says. "He is more of a superintendent, not a pastor, and frequently makes contacts with groups who have been meeting at home."

"In the case of the Rochester couple, ads were run in newspapers, other prospects for membership found, and Sunday services started with about 10 persons. Later, the mission expanded into a church and a pastor was called."

The area missionary might be called a modern-day circuit rider using the latest methods of communication. He keeps up with changes in leadership techniques, organization, and promotional methods.

He used the camera, the projector, the mimeograph machine, newspaper ads, TV and radio and the phone to stay in touch with large areas. He covers more territory in a month than his 19th century prototype did in a year. A pastoral missionary works in a dual capacity. He serves a mission or church as pastor and agrees that after the first year he will lead in the establishment of one new mission each year.

Usually the work is more rapid than one year. Ohio had set a five-year goal that was reached in two years. The work there has grown from 19 churches in 1952 to 191 churches and 84 missions today.

The area missionary, says Knight, sees beyond struggling churches and tiny missions to big churches and new state conventions.

The geographic term of the Southern Baptists is misleading. It is a denomination whose membership now totals nearly 10 million.

For many years the expansion was westward as Baptists moved toward the Pacific and still wanted churches "like those back home." More recently the movement has been to the cities of the North.

In 1956 the Southern Baptist Convention, composed of messengers or delegates from 3,200 churches, adopted a program that had as its goal the establishment of 30,000 preaching points by 1964. Approximately 10,000 have already been established.

Luther League Group Departs For Kansas City

The Luther League Caravan team which was a guest of Trinity Lutheran Church left Tuesday for Kansas City where the members are now working with the youth of St. Mark's Lutheran Church.

Their itinerary will take them to "sharing in youth" work in five more congregations in Missouri, Kansas and Illinois. They will complete their itinerary on Aug. 10 at Springfield, Ill.

During their stay in Sedalia, Miss Shirley Katzenmoyer of Hendersonville, North Carolina, was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Pahlow, South Highway 65; Ronald Tyvan, Spokane, Wash., was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Muller, 615 West Broadway, and Miss Cynthia Wineman, Greensburg, Pa., was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, 501 East 15th.

Services of Trinity Lutheran Church are being conducted at 8:15 a.m. during the summer months and the pastor's sermon for this Sunday will be, "The Christian's Great Privilege." Acolytes for the service will be Dennis Kreiser and Harry Blatterman, Jr. Mrs. Gertrude Fingland will be at the organ and will play as her prelude, "Andante Religioso" by Galle, postlude, "Angelicus"; postlude, "Chorus of Joy."

Ronnie Jones to Talk At First Methodist

Ronnie Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jones, will speak at the worship service of the First Methodist Church Sunday morning. Mike Hanigan will bring the children's message. Ed Brummitt will sing "The Publican." The Kindergarten Department will attend the service and Friendship Class will be given special recognition.

The minister, the Rev. Roy B. Stribling, is on vacation and will serve as Resource Leader at Camp Galilee next week. He will be back in the pulpit July 31.

The MYF will meet Sunday night 6:30 to 9 o'clock with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mowry, 1611 West Ninth. MYFers are to arrive early to help "turn" the ice cream freezer. The program will be under the Citizenship Area with Donna Warbirtton and Gary Warbirtton in charge and Dr. H. O. Wilbur adult advisor.

Black Oak Church Homecoming Sunday

The annual Homecoming of the Black Oak Church, eight miles Southeast of Lincoln, will be held July 31.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. and at 2 p.m. with a basket dinner at noon.

Everyone has been invited to attend.

Time Teaches One Lessons: How to Face Each Morning

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Well, it happened again.

Yep, this morning. The day started off swell. I hit the alarm clock—that mechanical bird in my boudoir—with the first flung shoe, and it fell over and said "gleep."

The shining sun heralded the advent of another morning of challenge.

Time has taught me the better part of valor is to take the challenge of each fresh today lying down as long as possible. I like to lie there and in my mind preview the potentialities of the day and its probable ambushes.

Well, this morning I couldn't foresee any possible ambushes. The weather was fine, the rent wasn't due, the cat wasn't scratching my daughter and I could hear my wife humming in the kitchen.

She still hums that old tune, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," and after 23 years of marriage I still wonder who she really has in mind.

Well, I got up and showered and the water was just the right temperature. And I shaved and the razor blade was sharp against the whiskers but didn't cut the skin.

The day looked better and better. I pulled on my socks and pants and shoes and started humming loud enough to be heard in the kitchen. "I'm getting sentimental over you—oo, too-oo."

Then it happened. Yes, it happened again.

I bent down and tugged a shirt from the drawer, removed it from its pristine cellophane and cardboard container, and started to don it.

Don it? It was like trying to buckle on armor plate. The shirt was stiff enough to stand on its tail. The cuffs as I fought my fists through them fought back with a white firmness.

I stalked into the kitchen and confronted my wife in majestic silence.

"What's the matter now—did

Rev. Charles Likely At Broadway Church

The Rev. Charles D. Likely, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Green Ridge, will be the guest minister at the Broadway Presbyterian Church in Sedalia Sunday.

His sermon topic will be, "Reconciliation Through Service." The board of trustees will hold its regular meeting Wednesday night.

Kingdom Hall Topic For Sunday Service

"Are We Living At The End of The World?" will be the title of a talk given at Kingdom Hall, Sunday at 3 p.m. The speaker will be G. Oliver of Independence, he is a minister and a representative of the Watchtower Society.

Following this talk will be the Watchtower study, the text taken from Luke 6:35, 36 subject title "The Power of Kindness."

you break a shoelace?" she asked.

"No. Starch!"

"Not starch!" Frances exclaimed. "Not starch again!"

"Yes, starch! Again... and again... and again!"

"We have a new laundryman," said my wife. "He didn't know you don't like starch in your shirts."

"That is the excuse my father used to get from my mother and I first heard it when I was 3 years old," I told her. "We have been fighting starch in our family for at least three generations."

"Oh, dry up, Rover," said my wife. "What will you have for breakfast?"

"Starch," I told her. "Scrambled starch, shirred starch, hard-boiled starch, soft-boiled starch, fried starch, baked starch."

"Call up the laundry and buy all the starch they have. Cook it and put it on the table. I want to get rid of it all—once and forever."

"I'd rather eat starch than wear it."

TV to Focus On the GOP Convention

By BERNARD GAVZER

NEW YORK (AP) — Now the Republicans have their turn, and the Argus-eyed television industry will try to focus upon main events rather than look in 100 directions at one time.

The result will be that actual network coverage of the GOP National Convention in Chicago will average about 18½ hours for each network, compared with an average of 28 hours for the Democratic convention in Los Angeles.

Convention warmups start Saturday night with Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller — the man who says he'll accept a draft for president — on NBC at 9:30 p.m. EDT. An hour later, ABC telecasts its convention preview.

On Sunday, the Republicans in view will be Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the national chairman, as guest on College Conference on ABC at 1 p.m.; Nixon and his family in an interview with Ed Murrow on CBS at 6 p.m.; Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater in an hour long Meet the Press show at NBC 6 p.m. in color, and Nixon, Reps. Halleck of Indiana and Judd of Minnesota, and Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia in a convention lineup on ABC at 7 p.m.

Other Sunday fare: Dr. Billy Graham and highlights of the Baptist World Conference on NBC, 1:30 p.m., and the 42nd PGA championship tournament from Akron, Ohio on CBS at 4:30 p.m.

While some convention times are apt to change, here's the schedule:

Monday—Opening session, ABC, NBC 11 a.m., CBS 11:30 a.m. From Monday evening through Thursday, ABC and NBC will start at 7:30 p.m., CBS at 8 p.m. President Eisenhower addresses

Miss Darlene L. Droege Becomes Bride Of Mr. Gordon Thompson

Before the altar of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Warrensburg adorned with baskets of white gladioli and greenery and candelabra tied with white satin bows holding tall white tapers, Miss Darlene Lillian Droege, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Droege, Warrensburg, became the bride of Mr. Gordon Lee Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Thompson, Knob Noster, at two o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. Adolph R. Meyer performed the impressive double ring ceremony.

The church organist played a prelude of wedding music and traditional marches. She also accompanied the vocalist, Miss Judy Wimer, cousin of the groom, Knob Noster, who sang, "The Wedding Prayer," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Lighting the candles were Miss Ann Thompson, sister of the groom, Knob Noster, and Miss Judy Ossenbrink, cousin of the bride. They wore red dresses.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of Chantilly lace over white bridal satin designed with a slim fitted bodice, long tapering sleeves and an open neckline finished with scallops of lace, pearls and sequins. The full skirt, worn over a hoop, was fashioned with Chantilly lace and in the back featured tiers of lace over net, which lengthened into a chapel train. The finger tip veil of French illusion fell from a crown of Chantilly lace, with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses with a bow of Chantilly lace. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Marion Droege, sister-in-law of the bride, Warrensburg, was matron of honor with Mrs. Leland Stewart, Warrensburg, and Miss Carol Conboy, Knob Noster, as bridesmaids. Each wore identical gowns styled with a full skirt of red silk organza over red taffeta and a fitted bodice of red lace over taffeta with a scalloped neckline and cap sleeves. Their hair were of white net with veils and they wore white accessories. Each carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Mr. David Gregory, Knob Noster, served the groom as best man. Mr. Marvin Droege, brother of the bride, Warrensburg, and Mr. Kenneth Siron, Sedalia, were groomsmen. Mr. Donald Kuhlman, Knob Noster, and Mr. Kenneth Keth, Warrensburg, ushered.

Miss Debbie Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ross, Warrensburg, was flower girl. She wore a white dotted Swiss dress and carried a basket of white rose petals.

Master Keith Dale Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dale Thompson, Knob Noster, cousin of the groom, served as ring bearer.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The mother of the groom wore a light blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a four tier wedding cake decorated with white roses tipped in red. The cake was topped with two wedding rings and a miniature bride and groom. Around the cake was white satin ribbon and blue net.

Servers were aunts of the bride, Mrs. Andrew Droege, Knob Noster, Mrs. Walter Ossenbrink, Knob Noster, Mrs. Gilbert Droege, Warrensburg, and Mrs. Joe Coffman, Warrensburg. Miss Dixie Clear, Warrensburg, had charge of the guest book.

The couple left for Colorado following the reception for a week honeymoon. The couple will make their home in Knob Noster. For traveling, the bride chose a beige suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

The nominations and balloting will take place Wednesday and the acceptance speeches Thursday.

The same network teams covering the Democrats will be on hand.

Mrs. Gordon Lee Thompson

The bride graduated from Knob Noster High School in 1958 and is employed at Utilitog Company in Warrensburg.

The groom is a graduate of LaMonte High School in 1956, attended CMSC, Warrensburg, for one year and the School of Forestry at MU, Columbia. He is presently employed as an architect at Wimer Lumber Company.

About Town

Out of town guests attending the wedding of Miss Darlene L. Droege and Mr. Gordon L. Thompson were:

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schubert, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Schubert and Mr. and Mrs. Redd Spencer, Fairland, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schubert, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McLane, Independence; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Smiley and Mrs. W. C. Westbrook, Houstonia; Miss Sharon Thompson, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Siron, Mr. and Mrs. Noland Dorrance, Sedalia; and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schweer, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Oetting and Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Dierking, Concordia.

Claims Invention Of 'Joy Tonic'

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis says he has a report that a man at a state mental hospital has invented a joy tonic that makes elderly patients "act like kids."

Davis Thursday said a woman had written him the tonic's effect reminded her of the song "I Could Have Danced All Night," except, as she put it, "I could have danced all month."

With straight face, Davis said: "If we can find that man, he's in for some fast business."

Body of Millionaire Cremated Thursday

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Funeral services for Edward Rodman Perry, a millionaire who boasted "I never worked a day in my life," will be held today in Menands, N.Y.

The eccentric heir to his father's stove manufacturing fortune, died Wednesday in a Sarasota rest home at the age of 99.

He would have reached the century mark March 27, 1961.

Perry never disclosed the amount of his fortune, but it was estimated in the millions. He maintained homes in Sarasota, Miami, Albany, N.Y., and Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

Once, when asked about his money, he said: "Son, I'll tell you. My father died when I was a young man. He left me a lot of money and I haven't been able to spend it all yet."

Blind Men Reveal Hitchhiking Plans

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two blind men have announced plans for a hitchhiking trip to Philadelphia. Bill Scrimgeour, 50, of London, England, and Bob Lambert, 27, of Philadelphia, are going to make the trip with their seeing-eye dogs because they found opportunities lacking here.

Scrimgeour will be looking for work and Lambert wants aid in completing his preparation for teaching mathematical logic.

"Rigging" Is Confusing

Injecting the term "rigging" into 1960 convention talk was basically a disservice, since it never was properly defined and consequently has produced a high measure of confusion.

One notion that has grown out of this confusion is that a national convention is "rigged" if a substantial number of delegates come to it already committed to one candidate or another. This is a pretty difficult idea to support.

To begin with, a considerable share of convention delegates are committed by law, as result of voters' choices in binding state primaries. These are decisions of the people, and one can hardly call them rigged.

Indeed, they are far less likely to be subject to "controlling influences" than are closed-door meetings of delegates in a convention city.

Many other delegates are committed not by primary decisions but by the free and open action of state conventions. Delegates may be formally instructed to vote for a particular candidate, or they may choose to give public commitment of their position at the time they are chosen.

This is in fact the same sort of action some states take when they get to the national convention scene.

It will require somebody a good deal less vague than former President Truman to explain why such action is all right if taken in Los Angeles but constitutes rigging if done earlier in Denver or Minneapolis or Louisville. Contrary to what some people suggest, there is no special, magic quality to the deliberations conducted in the national convention city. They may in truth be less careful, less closely responsive to state sentiment, than those held on the home scene.

Furthermore, so long as delegates are selected on a state-by-state basis weeks and months in advance of the national conclave, there is no prospect that the bulk of them will come to that meeting wholly free of commitments and leanings.

Even if there were no binding primaries, no instructed delegations and no use of the unit rule, this would still be true.

Campaigns do not flare suddenly out of nowhere. Candidates consume months and sometimes years in building toward a presidential nomination.

Politics being what it is, there is no way to prevent this, nor is there any particular reason why there should be. The people are entitled to see their candidates long and often.

By the same token, it is unrealistic to expect delegates to come to a national convention as clean sheets unmarked by impressions of candidates. This assumes they live in a vacuum.

The system we have evolved often yields its results early, with the consequence that the national convention itself seems cut and dried. The year 1960 is not special in this regard. Only two Democratic conventions since 1924 have gone beyond one ballot.

But there is a vast difference between delegates making their own early determinations and being victimized by "rigging."

Drafts Don't Happen Spontaneously

By DREW PEARSON

CHICAGO—Thurston Morton, the Republican national chairman, has a quality not always present among politicians. He tells the truth—at least in private. When he arrived in Chicago he let his hair down to friends.

"We've got to get Rocky behind the ticket," he said, and there was a note of hopelessness in his voice. "But with these reactionary delegates it isn't going to be easy. These delegates were picked in a vacuum—without a fight. And when that happens you get the most conservative, the ones with the most money. So it isn't going to be easy to write a platform liberal enough for Rocky to run on."

The frank Mr. Morton went on to discuss the chances of drafting Gov. Rockefeller for president. "There's no draft-Rocky movement from within," he said, "and a draft movement from without would get about as far as the draft-Stevenson movement got in Los Angeles."

Drafts Don't Happen
Most observers who have been watching political conventions over the years figure that chairman Morton is right. Drafts are discussed very seriously by the public, but, with the exception of Wendell Willkie, they don't happen.

When Chip Robert of Georgia, former treasurer of the Democratic national committee, watched the Stevenson demonstration in Los Angeles, he remarked: "I have attended every Democratic convention since 1912 when they nominated Woodrow Wilson. But I have never seen a demonstration like this."

It got Stevenson no place. The delegates sat on their hands. They were signed, sealed, and delivered to their candidates in advance.

Some people, possibly Stevenson himself, have labored under the impression that he was drafted in 1952. He wasn't. He was picked by the party bosses as a means of blocking Sen. Estes Kefauver who had staged a probe of the underworld which disrupted the political machines of the big city bosses. They were determined to stop him, and they used Stevenson to do it.

Some people have also labored under the impression that Harry Truman was drafted for vice president in 1944. He wasn't. He was picked by Bob Hannegan, political boss of St. Louis; Ed Flynn, boss of the Bronx; Ed Kelly, mayor of Chicago. They sold him to Roosevelt. He had FDR's OK, though originally FDR put Justice William O. Douglas

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

LINCOLN vs. THE GOP — As 1960 is the 100th anniversary of the election of the first Republican President—Lincoln by name, it will be interesting to read the touching references to him that will be made in the GOP platform, and by their keynote orator.

There is mighty little of Lincoln left in the GOP, just as Jefferson has been discarded by the Democratic Party.

The Democrats have long since stopped saying that they are following Jefferson in anything they do today. But the GOPs can't disregard the fact that this is a Centennial year. They've got to say something nice about Mr. Lincoln, but what?

They will not say that Lincoln said: "The maintenance inviolate of the rights of the States and especially of the right of each State to order and control its own domestic institutions according to its own judgment exclusively, is essential to that balance of powers on which the perfection of our political fabric depends."

They will not say that this principle was violated by the Supreme Court in the school integration case. They will not tell you that Lincoln strongly condemned the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case because it would not recognize the law of Illinois as determining the status of Scott as a free man.

They will not repeat the words of the Republican platform of 1860 which "viewed with alarm the reckless extravagance which pervades every department of the Federal Government."

las at the top of his preference list.

Ike Has Veto

This highlights another point about a so-called draft. It's almost impossible to be nominated without the blessing of the man who occupies the White House — if he's a member of the same party. FDR could have vetoed Harry Truman, but didn't. Truman could have vetoed Stevenson in 1952 when Truman was in the White House, but not afterward, and Eisenhower today has the veto of his successor.

Furthermore he exercised that veto against Gov. Rockefeller. It is true that Jim Hagerty has officially denied this. It is true that the President himself has said that he is keeping hands off. Nevertheless, Ike just doesn't enthrone over the man who has criticized his defense policies. Actually Ike has blown hot and cold toward Nixon. But he has been consistently, though privately, down on the governor of New York ever since Nelson resigned from the White House staff in late 1957 in private protest over Ike's lagging defense policies and went up to New York to publish the Rockefeller brothers' report which used blunt, almost scathing words to describe our defense failures.

Eisenhower hit the ceiling. The fact that achievement after achievement in the Russian satellite and missile field have demonstrated the correctness of Rockefeller's position has not helped the President's resentment. The truth hurts. And Russian success has deepened the resentment.

So with Ike turning thumbs down on Rockefeller and with the majority of the GOP delegates being either handpicked Nixon friends or Old Guarders, the chances of a draft-Rockefeller movement are not great.

Can a Miracle Repeat?

However, this could also be said about Rockefeller's chances of becoming governor of New York in 1958. That was an overwhelming Democratic year. The Democrats won almost every major election. New York was the most notable exception, where Rockefeller, running for the first time in his life, defeated a Democrat governor, Averell Harriman, who had a fine record. Nelson won by a margin of 600,000 votes.

This is the kind of miracle politics that makes an old pro's eyes shine. And today there is plenty of grudging admiration among Republicans for Rockefeller's vote - getting ability. Furthermore, the wise Republicans know that Rockefeller at the head of the ticket means certain victory. They also know that Nixon at the head of the ticket may mean defeat.

There is not an honest Republican politician who will not admit, at least privately, that the Kennedy-Johnson combination in Los Angeles is going to be very hard to beat.

Kennedy operated the kind of tough, efficient organization at Los Angeles that every politician, whether Republican or Democrat, admires. His acceptance speech was nothing short of genius. He is in command, knows where he's going, and the Republicans realize they are in for an uphill fight.

Despite this a lot of them would frankly prefer to lose with Nixon than win with Rockefeller. It's just as simple as that.

CAPE GIRARDEAU MISSOURIAN: Planetary Cousins.—Expert doubt has been showered on speculation that a peopled planet far out in space is trying to get in touch with us. Dr. Howard Shapley, professor emeritus of astronomy at Harvard University, questions the possibility.

Dr. Shapley concedes there may be something to the theory that "organisms" exist on some planet. They may be even further along the road of civilization than earth men. That these "organisms" are trying to contact us is amusing to Dr. Shapley.

The planet may be so far out, in light years, that it would take about 20 years, the astronomer estimates, to get an answer to a question. Which is probably just as well.

The chances are that our planetary cousins' first message would be about getting a loan. By the time our answer reached them there would be a new administration in Washington and the whole process would have to be started over again, ad infinitum.

Until the Frog Jumped, Deal Worked

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like drawing a circle around a frog and telling him not to jump out of it. This is what the United States did with Russia. And it worked, too, until the frog jumped.

And that's what put America in its latest dilemma.

Back in 1947, when George F. Kennan was head of the State Department's policy planning staff, he outlined an American plan followed ever since. As he said, it meant "holding the line and hoping for the best."

The idea was to ring Russia—then infinitely weaker than the United States—with military bases and alliances to keep it from pushing or overrunning her neighbors.

At that time, 13 years ago, the Soviet Union had no hydrogen bomb, no missiles, and Red China didn't exist. The mainland was still being run by Chiang Kai-shek, the American ally. But Kennan was doing some wishful thinking:

1. That this containment policy — military encirclement — would not only keep the Russians behind their own frontiers but would put internal pressure on the Soviet government.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Miss Juanita Young and Miss Harriet Miller went to Kansas City where they joined friends and all are driving to Yellowstone Park and other places in the west.

1935

Mrs. Charles E. Messerly, Jr., left for Green Mountain Falls, Colo., accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Emmert and son, of Hong Kong, China; Mrs. Andrew Allen and son of Buffalo, N. F., and Elsie Blanchard, of Dalton, Mass.

1935

S. J. Timbrius and Mrs. C. F. Fisher were named on the social welfare board by city council which met with Edgar Neighbors, presiding as acting mayor. They succeeded Fred Overfelt and Mrs. W. W. Bolton, resigned.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Scoutmaster R. H. Berry will be in charge of the annual encampment of the Sedalia group of Boy Scouts of America on the banks of Lake Tebo the latter part of August.

1920

Mrs. A. C. Harter, accompanied by her son Harvey Brimmer, and Mrs. H. E. Walker, and Miss Helen Walker, St. Louis, and Miss Margaret Claibough, of this city, motored to Kansas City to meet Mrs. Harter's son, Raymond Brimmer, who was recently discharged from the Navy.

1920

Mrs. J. E. Cannaday, her five-months-old daughter, Betty, and Miss Sarah Yarnell have returned home after a harrowing escape from drowning in the Missouri river near Overton. With Dr. Cannaday they were on an overland trip. They had driven onto the ferry at Overton when the boat gave a sudden lurch which caused the car to go over the side into the water. Miss Yarnell was rescued with a life preserver and Dr. Cannaday rescued his child and wife.

2. That the pressure might hasten Soviet collapse internally or at least force a change of direction or intent because Kennan felt and wrote, Russia contained within itself the seeds of its own destruction.

Up till now the containment policy has kept the Russians from bulldozing their immediate neighbors. But, contrary to Kennan's hopes, instead of collapse the Soviet Union's internal development has been phenomenal.

Now, 13 years later, the Russians have the hydrogen bomb, missiles probably capable of hitting America, an industrial production second only to that of the United States, and a population apparently content and loyal.

Russian strength has increased so tremendously that only this week New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the balance of power has shifted to the Soviet Union. The Russians have been acting as if they believed that, too.

They still can't, without risking war, push directly against the American circle drawn around them. So they have done the obvious and next-best thing for them. They have leaptfrogged out of the circle.

They have done it not only by the usual propaganda and intrigue but by promises of both economic and even military help to countries on the American side of the circle. This is the most glaring example: the economic deals with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuba and a warning to the United States to keep hands off. Thus the Russians, without resorting to war to smash the circle, have hopped over and are trying to set up shop in America's backyard.

Here Are Tips for Those Plagued by Unemployment

By FAYE HENLE

Certain to seize a spotlight among national issues as Congress reconvenes and the presidential nominees push for election will be the unemployment issue. It has been popular for every political candidate to promise "full employment."

What are the implications in this situation so far as you are concerned?

The important thing is not to lose sight of the fact that the phrase "full employment" apparently has varied meanings. Does it imply that everyone who wishes to work will find steady employment?

Does "full employment" disregard the four per cent jobless in recent years because of age, seasonal factors or because they turn down employment opportunities?

How significant is the current figure of some 5.2 per cent jobless? These facts are difficult to evaluate. No one can be absolutely sure that these figures are accurate and while they cannot be completely disregarded, I think some important findings from which we can profit come from a just-completed study by the University of Michigan.

Based on a survey covering the period November 1957 through November 1959, they report that nearly two-thirds of those out of work during the period said unemployment was "usual" for

This almost certainly is only the beginning of such efforts to penetrate, by one means or another, the Latin American world. And Russia's efforts to penetrate Africa will be even more barefaced.

The American government can hardly dissuade the Russians from encroaching in areas close to the United States by complaining this is our backyard.

The Russians can answer by pointing out that for years the United States has linked itself to the Soviets' next-door neighbors with economic and military help and even military alliances.

For example: If the Russians send troops into Africa at the request of the Congo government, they can remind the world that the United States sent troops into the Middle East at the request of the government of Lebanon.

There would be a difference, of course. There were no United Nations troops already in Lebanon to keep order as there are now in the Congo.

And the worst is yet to come. Mainland China, now in Red Chinese hands, in a few years with Soviet help, should be militarily strong enough to inflict the miseries on the American containment policy in the Far East.

Where does it all lead to? Some guesses can be made.

The United States will need new ideas in dealing with the Communist world. Kennan himself a couple of years ago was shifting around to the idea of a pullback in Europe.

This country will probably, in some fashion, have to make revisions in its containment policy and develop new programs to keep the rest of the world neutral or out of Communist hands.

False Weight Gain Signals Failure of Body Functions

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Before we're fully mature, weight gain is interpreted as evidence of normal growth.

After we've come of age, further gains suggest that we're taking on extra cargo in the form of excess fat.

Either way, however, we recognize that increases due to the growth of tissue or accumulations of fat represent TRUE gains in weight.

It is possible also for the scales to record FALSE gains in weight, as the owner of Mark Twain's jumping frog learned when his entry was fed buckshot by the competition. When we humans register a false gain in weight it's usually due to waterlogging (edema). Much less often, it's due to the accumulation of a sticky goo (myxedema) that collects in the tissues of persons whose thyroid function has gotten sluggish.

While it's the doctor's obligation to recognize myxedema after making appropriate tests, you'll probably be the first to suspect waterlogging.

If your weight gain is accompanied by tightness of your shoes and rigging of your ankles when shoes are removed, you can be pretty sure that your tissues are getting uncomfortably soggy.

Now it's no trick at all to restore normal thyroid function. By the simple administration of regulated doses of a good gland extract, the goo will fluidify and be excreted with elimination of the false weight gain. But waterlogging presents a much more difficult problem for the physician. First of all, he's going to have to find out if edema fluid has also accumulated in hidden places in your body like the chest cavities (hydrothorax) or the belly (ascites).

Then he's got to find out WHY these accumulations have occurred. The explanation may be simple, like plugging of the leg veins.

It may be more complicated like back pressure in the circulatory system or clogging of kidney filters. A shut-off in the liver can prevent the return of blood to the heart. Some glandular or chemical disturbance can raise the water level in the dam and cause flooding in the back country.

It's pretty complicated business. But don't let that frighten you too much. For your doctor now has at his disposal at least a dozen drugs (diuretics) that can be relied on to siphon off edema fluid until he is able to find and correct the main cause of the trouble.

Now here's a word of caution about use of the drugs that produce a weight loss when there is an initial false gain due to myxedema or simple edema.

They'll have no significant or sustained effect if they're given to a person who had a TRUE weight gain due to normal tissue growth or fat accumulation. In fact, they may do considerable harm.

Overdosing with thyroid will produce serious illness. Continued administration of diuretics, whether given by mouth or by hypodermic, may result in grave damage to vital organs.

I don't want to alarm you unnecessarily. But I must warn you against endangering your health through ill-advised recourse to drug treatments for the correction of true gain of weight.

Wife Ill, Husband Learns What She Does in a Day

"Now I know what a housewife does all day," confesses a husband whose wife recently spent six weeks in the hospital.

"She chauffeurs children, hauls in groceries, answers the telephone, makes beds, cooks meals, gets rid of door-to-door salesmen, has conferences with Junior's teacher, settles quarrels among the children, gets children up in the morning and to bed at night, entertains callers, keeps the flower beds watered and the weeds down, helps the children with their homework—and on and on and on."

The husband who found out for himself what a woman does all day had hired help to lend a hand and numerous neighbors and friends who helped out by carpooling for him, bringing in food for meals and taking the children on outings.

And yet with all that help he discovered that he never found a minute to call his own and that when his wife finally recovered from her illness, she had to pitch in and houseclean for days to get everything clean and in order and up to her own housekeeping standards.

It usually takes a wife's absence from home to give a husband an inkling of just how many and varied are the duties of a homemaker.

matter of FACT
The people of 14th-century Venice were frightened. A mysterious disease was stalking the city. It seemed to be coming from the harbor. Incoming ships were forced to observe a 40-day isolation period. Isolation of this sort came to be called "quarantine," from the Italian word quaranta, meaning "forty." The Venetian quarantine failed. The mysterious disease was the Black Death, which killed 25 million people in three horrible years.

Publication Urges Prayer For Nikita

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Prayer for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was urged today by an international publication and several church leaders. They said the same thing could happen to him that happened to Saul of Tarsus.

Saul, the violent persecutor of early Christians, was converted on the road to Damascus and became the great missionary apostle, Paul.

United Evangelical Action, official organ of the National Assn. of Evangelicals, said that just as God's grace had melted Saul's "determined heart," it could "do the same thing for Khrushchev."

"The man whose nation has spread communism through a third of the world's population could be used of God to teach Christianity instead of communism and to exalt Christ instead of Marx," the article said.

The NAE is a cooperative body of Evangelical Protestant churches with about 10 million members.

In an accompanying symposium, several churchmen also urged prayer for the Communist leader. Some said sufficient prayer would either reform him or destroy him.

"Khrushchev must yield to Christ or be hurled from his despot's pinnacle if we will but pray," said the Rev. Arthur L. Bray, president of the Illinois Conference of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

He said Isaiah's prayers tumbled Sennacherib of Assyria from power and other tyrants also were deposed through prayer.

Armin R. Gesswein, chairman of the NAE's spiritual life commission, said that "it is right and God-pleasing to pray for Mr. Khrushchev," just as for other world leaders.

The prophet Daniel, he said, "surely prayed for the ruthless Nebuchadnezzar and all the God-rulers of that day, and anti-God answered!"

Said the Rev. Frank Smith, a Des Moines, Iowa, pastor: "If our Lord prayed for his murderers, should not we also pray for even those who have designed our destruction?"

The article noted that 1st Timothy: 2 exhorts prayers for "all that are in authority" and adds that pagan leaders may "need our prayers more than any others."

However, it said that praying specifically for Khrushchev's destruction would "not necessarily honor God." It said the only worthy prayer to offer for him is "for the redemption of a lost soul."

"We should pray for the light of the gospel to illuminate the darkened mind and heart. We can forget that he is a dictator, an enemy of democracy, an avowed atheist. We can remember that he is a man for whom Christ died."

"If Khrushchev should become aware that his opponents in the cold war were constantly praying for him, he might follow in the path of Saul of Tarsus."

Kansans May Fight Extradition Issue

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — C. B. Brackett and Dale Brackett, brothers from Columbus, Kan., have been given until Aug. 10 to file a writ of habeas corpus if they want to fight extradition to Kansas.

The Bracketts are charged with buying gasoline last Nov. 5 at Coffeyville, Kan., knowing it had been stolen.

The two men were granted the time to file a writ of habeas corpus after appearing before Circuit Judge Woodson Oldham Thursday.

The gasoline allegedly was stolen from the Coffeyville Co-Op Refinery. The Bracketts were employed by the Fullerton Oil Co. at Sarcoxie, Mo.

Governor James T. Blair granted on Tuesday a Kansas request for, extradition of the brothers. They are free on $500 bonds.

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—A three-state search was called off when parents of a teen-age couple learned they had eloped.

Jeanne Sottile, 16, daughter of a millionaire banker, and Harold Walsh III, 17, an apprentice cameraman, sent identical telegrams to their parents: "We are married and safe. Be home Friday. Sorry for any worry. Love."

The telegrams came from Marianna, in northwest Florida. The couple, sweethearts for two or three years, had vanished Wednesday from their homes a block from each other.

Jeanne is a daughter of James Sottile Jr., of the Sottile banks group and citrus-cattle empire. Walsh is a son of Harold Walsh II, nationally-known cameraman who filmed Jerry Lewis' movie "The Bellboy" and Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo."

Granger Puts His Dream Up for Sale

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Stewart Granger is putting a dream up for sale.

In a few weeks, when he finishes "Go North" with John Wayne, he's selling his 10,000-acre ranch in Nogales, Ariz. This is the ranch that Granger and Jean Simmons, a couple of soon-to-be-divorced Brits, had developed into an American dream.

"Now that Jean and Tracy (their daughter, 3) are no longer there," says Granger sadly, "I couldn't live in the place. Almost everything is named after the baby. It would be too depressing."

Granger will sell the big spread and go to Europe for a series of pictures.

"I guess I'll make my residence in Switzerland now," he says. "As long as I'm over there, I might as well take advantage of it."

He's referring to the tax break so many Hollywood stars have found since establishing residence in Switzerland.

"Taxes are lower over there," says Granger, an American citizen, "because you don't get as much as you do here, so you pay accordingly. I'll miss my home in Arizona."

That home in Arizona consists of rolling hills, just east of Nogales, five miles of it along the Mexican border. It includes a six-bedroom house, a two-bedroom guest house, and two-bedroom servants' quarters. Television is in every room, with three-channel reception from Phoenix and Tucson. A 10-acre lake feeds a 5-acre lake stocked with trout. There are a swimming pool and tennis court and the Santa Cruz River winds through cottonwoods.

"I've been 25 years in the movie business," says Granger, "but the greatest thrill of my life was as a Britisher running an American ranch, winning blue ribbons for my French cattle."

Granger's ranch has 500 head of Charolais beef cattle.

"Jean and I have been knocking our brains out making movies all over the world to pay for the cattle. In about three years we had both planned to settle down in Arizona for good and never make another picture. I guess now I'll die an actor instead of a cattleman."

Granger's cattle came high. As the two made movies to buy them, they often were separated. An estimate by a friend had them apart almost half of the last six years.

Satisfied With Trade Policy With the US

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's new Prime Minister, Hayato Ikeda, said today he is satisfied with American trade policy toward Japan.

Ikeda also ruled out any immediate new parliamentary elections in Japan and denied any intention of seeking revisions of the controversial U. S.-Japanese security treaty, two things demanded by the left-wing demonstrators who forced the resignation of his predecessor, Nobusuke Kishi.

The bespectacled, conservative Ikeda, who took office last week, at a news conference expressed his deep regret for the violence which led to the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit in June.

Charges Dropped Against Jailed Cuban Stripper

ST. LOUIS (AP) — City Judge Rodney Weiss said Thursday it was "reprehensible and barbaric" to hold stripper Clarise Annjell in jail overnight in the nude. He dismissed charges against her of performing a lewd act, resisting arrest and peace disturbance.

The city plans to appeal the verdict.

Clarise, a Havana-born dancer who says she is an American citizen, was dragged away screaming, jumping and kicking from her act by three detectives Wednesday night.

The 27-year-old auburn haired dancer screamed in a latin accent:

"Why I am arrested?" The detectives carried her off in the paddy wagon clad only in a whip here and there — and handcuffs.

At the stationhouse, a matron took what was left of the costume for evidence. Then Clarise, divested even of the handcuffs and now wearing only spike heeled shoes, was clapped into a cell.

Twelve hours later she was told to put on a baggy white smock and bloomers, which did not a thing for her figure. So Miss Annjell donned her street clothes.

She grumbled: "It took three of those louts to handcuff me and one of them was about seven feet tall. And fat. They wouldn't even let me keep a feather."

Judge Weiss remarked "the whole treatment of the defendant added up, is to me, reprehensible . . . it is barbaric to throw someone into a cell all night without any clothing."

Fair Secretary Tells Kiwanians Of 1960 Plans

An oral preview of the entertainment and other programs scheduled for the Missouri State Fair August 20-28, supplemented by motion pictures of the 1959 exposition, was presented by Secretary-Manager "Colie" Ervin to Sedalia Kiwanians at their meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

Also on the program was Al Sweeney, Tampa, Fla., president of National Speedways, Inc., who outlined the automobile racing events which will be expanded this season.

Both men agreed that the 1960 exposition will be an outstanding one especially from the standpoint of added attractions with varied entertainment appeal.

W. A. Smith, program chairman, introduced the speakers.

President John Ryan announced that the special ladies night dinner meeting would be held Wednesday night, Aug. 17, in Bothwell Hotel, a change in date from that previously announced. The local club will be host to District Governor Joe Mueller.

Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist. Invocation was by R. C. Hemphill.

Guests were: John J. McRoberts, Morgan, Texas, former Sedalian, with George H. Scruton; Lane Niles with his father, the Rev. Walter Niles; William Haupt, Kansas City, with Joe Moyer; Kiwanian Gail Tipton, Warrensburg; Kiwanian William Weber, Richmond, Mo., with J. C. Alexander.

GOP Platform Writers May Finish Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Republicans buckle down today to the job of putting on paper a platform they hope will contribute to a party victory in November.

Leaders predicted the document will have little "me-tooism" — a tag given some past GOP platforms by critics who contended the Republicans aped the Democrats in social welfare promises. Certainly the platform will differ dramatically from that adopted by Democrats at Los Angeles last week if it reflects the predominant tone of those who made recommendations this week.

The platform will go to the convention Wednesday for adoption.

Most of the 200-odd persons who testified before the 103-member Platform Committee during the last three days called for a halt to injecting the federal government into the economic and social welfare life of the nation.

The Democratic platform, on the other hand, pledged to expand federal activities in these fields.

In writing the platform, the GOP drafters will give much weight to the wishes of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the party's all-but-certain presidential nominee. Nixon has been keeping in close touch with leaders of the Platform Committee.

There is one area in which the Republicans may find themselves called upon to broaden federal activity. That is the controversial issue of racial discrimination in voting, education, housing and other spheres of human relations.

Civil rights advocates urged the Republicans to come up with as bold a civil rights plank as the Democrats. The latter promised to widen federal authority to intervene in the courts to help end racial discrimination in many fields. The plank evoked bitter opposition of Southern delegates.

Here, as at the Democratic convention, Dixie delegates pleaded for moderation. But there was no threat of a walkout by Southerners. Instead there was a promise that a modest plank would encourage many Southern Democrats to shift to the GOP.

Rockefeller Is Concerned Over Planks

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's office reported today he is "deeply concerned" over reports that Republican platform writers have come up with draft planks which he calls "seriously lacking in strength and specifics."

The statement of the New York governor's views was given out by his press secretary, Robert L. McManus, as subcommittees of the platform committee settled down to putting party declarations on paper. The platform is to be approved by the party's national convention next Wednesday night.

The statement said Rockefeller, who is very available for the GOP presidential nomination but not an avowed candidate, has been in close touch with all platform developments through a special staff in Chicago.

Rockefeller also has been in direct communication with Charles Percy, chairman of the platform committee, McManus said.

He added that Rockefeller is "keenly appreciative" that Percy "has been doing his patient and utmost best in a job made difficult by clear conflict of views."

This was a possible reference to divergence between the viewpoints of Rockefeller and the apparently sure GOP nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Quality Dealer Award Presented Bryant Motors

Dan Robinson, president of Bryant Motors, received the Chrysler Corporation's coveted Quality Dealer Award at a banquet Thursday night at the Old Missouri Homestead.

Presenting the award was Gordon Musky, regional manager for the Chrysler Company.

Mr. Musky said the award was presented Bryant Motors for having met certain rigid standards set by the Chrysler company. The award cited Bryant Motors for having attained an excellent performance rating; having an outstanding administrative program; for outstanding service and facilities.

In accepting the award Mr. Robinson expressed his appreciation to Bryant Motors employees for their diligent efforts. He said if Chrysler made another such award, "his firm would surely win it."

Speaking briefly to the employees were John Ryan, vice president and Bob Luse, district manager for Chrysler Corporation.

Chaplin, Jr., Miffed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Charlie Chaplin Jr. is miffed because his famous father's name isn't engraved in the cement of Hollywood's sidewalks.

So he brought suit in Los Angeles superior court Thursday to compel the Los Angeles City Council, the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce and the Hollywood Improvement Assn. to make such a record.

Young Chaplin charges that the groups "arbitrarily and with malice, prejudice and bias" decided not to include his father's name. He termed the elder Chaplin's career "a milestone in the history of picture making."

The celebrated comedian and his family now reside in Switzerland.

'Nice to be in Front'

Arnie After Triple, Leads PGA Field

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer headed for an unprecedented triple today as he led the 42nd PGA championship into the second round by a single stroke.

After being forced to birdie the last two holes to win the Masters, and coming from seven strokes off the pace to take the national open, the Pennsylvania strong boy said: "It's nice to be out in front for once."

The Ligonier lad blazed a 34-33-67 over Firestone Country Club's 7,165-yard par-70 layout, with four birdies and a bogey. He nosed out veteran Sam Snead who snared this championship 18 years ago and twice since.

The performances of the two long hitters featured the first day of this extravaganza in which the biggest PGA field in history is playing on the tournament's longest course for the biggest purse before the largest gallery. The first round's paid attendance was 10,225.

The long layout, its narrow fairways bordered by heavy roughs and crossed by streams and ponds, took a heavy talent toll, especially in the ranks of the club professionals for whom the showpiece was fashioned.

Only nine of the top 32 scorers are nontourists, the money-makers taking command of the first eight places and 15 of the leading 18. Just how many of the teaching pros will be around after today's cut to the low 90—with the cutoff slated at scores near 151—is problematical.

Palmer put together his round early and then let the starting field of 184 fire at his 67. Snead, 48, bothered by a hooking driver, came in late and made the biggest bid. Invited into the press tent for a chat with the scribes, the West Virginia slammer drawled: "Can't do it right now. Have to practice before I cool off."

Joining Palmer and Snead as the only parbreakers were Paul Harney, the slim tourist from Worcester, Mass., and veteran Freddie Haas of New Orleans, each with a 69. Bracketed at par 70 were Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., who tied for the runner-up spot last year; Don Fairfield, 31, of Casey, Ill.; Don January, 30, of Dallas, and sweet-swinging Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif.

Three club pros huddled into a 10-way tie at 71. The top teachers were John O'Donnell of Baltimore, Bob Harris of Winnetka, Ill., and Ed Griffiths, former Ohio Open champion from Youngstown. With them were such tourists as long-hitting George Bayer, Al Beselink, and former champion Jim Ferrier.

The course was loose for the first round, with the ties well to the front and the pins in open spots, to hurry the big field to a before-dawn finish.

But Ferrier, native Australian, said as he posted his 71: "This place was real friendly and probably will be for the second round, too. But they'll take the chains off Saturday, and this monster will wake up and roar back. Those last two rounds will be no picnic."

The 90 survivors of today's round will be cut to 60 for Sunday's 18-hole dash to the wire. All who complete the 72 holes will get a slice of the $60,000 purse. Last placers are expected to profit by something over $200.

Chiefs Rap Sweet Springs; Smith Wins Second Straight

Everett Smith came on in the sixth inning and pitched steady ball as the Chiefs thumped Sweet Springs, 8-4, Thursday night at Liberty Park. He relieved Roger Gates, who had a one-run lead going into the sixth. But when Sweet Springs rallied and went ahead one run Smith was brought in. He promptly retired the side in order. In the bottom of the sixth Sedalia came back with four big runs. The locals wrapped up the game in the eighth with two additional tallies.

Smith's win was his second in a row. In his last outing he beat Lowry City, 6-4. Sedalia's leading hitter was Tim Morgan who went three for four. This was the Chiefs' tenth victory of the season.

Sedalia will travel to Lexington

Weekend Fishing Forecast

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri Conservation Commission reported today lakes and rivers in the southern half of the state are clear but fishing is rated only fair.

The report by areas:

Northwest — Rivers clear to dingy, about normal level. Good catches of catfish and channel cat on trot lines and bank lines with natural baits. Farm ponds fairly productive for black bass.

West Central — Major streams clear but at low level. Top catches are rough fish and pan fish. Strip pits and farm ponds fair for black bass on artificial lures.

Bull Shoals Lake—Water clear, normal level. Good catches of white and black bass on top water lures. Fair for catfish on trot lines.

Lake of the Ozarks — Water clear, three feet below normal. Crappie best, hitting minnows. Black bass fair.

Table Rock Lake—Water clear, three feet below power pool. Largemouth bass taking top water lures. Crappie good at night.

Lake Taneycomo—Water clear, normal level. Bluegills biting good. Black bass, crappie and channel cat fair. Trout slow.

Montrose Lake—Slightly dingy water but clearing. Normal level. Good catches of black bass on top water lures. Still fishing with minnows good for crappie and for channels, bullheads with natural or prepared bait.

Lake Paho — Water clear, full level. Still fishing with worms producing excellent catches of bluegill. Black bass hitting fair on top water lures.

Little Dixie Lake—Water clear, full level. Black bass and sunfish fair.

Trou areas — Bennett Springs, Roaring River, Montauk and Maramec Springs clear but water levels are very low. Trout biting fair to good all areas.

Wright, Smith Big Guns In Women's Open

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The determination of defending Champion Mickey Wright and the red-hot wedge iron of Marilyn Smith were the principal topics of conversation today as the National Women's Open Golf Championship entered its second round.

Miss Wright, a San Diego, Calif., pro trying for an unprecedented third consecutive championship, turned on the steam on the back nine Thursday to take the first-round lead with a one-under-par 71 over the 6,137-yard Worcester Country Club course.

Breaking out of a recent slump, the 25-year-old golfer scored six birdies for her one-stroke lead over Miss Smith.

Her explanation — determination. "Something just seems to happen when I enter the Open. I want it bad. And I'd rather be out in front, not trying to catch up," Mickey said.

Miss Smith scored the only eagle of the round when she dropped a 30-foot wedge shot for a three on the 440-yard 12th hole. She also chipped in on the 458-yard fifth hole for a birdie four.

Smith Homers Twice As Bucs Rap LA

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Hal Smith is the Babe Ruth of the Los Angeles Coliseum. The Pittsburgh catcher plays screeno with Walter O'Malley's handy little gadget in left field like the man who invented the game.

Smith hit two more over the screen Thursday night in Pittsburgh's 4-1 victory over the Dodgers. The pair ran his season total to nine. Six of them have been hit at the Coliseum, four in the last two days.

As a result of Smith's home runs and a five-hit pitching job by Vern Law, who won his 12th, the Pirates again lead Milwaukee by 1 1/2 games.

St. Louis gave the Bucs a helping hand in an afternoon game at Milwaukee where they broke the Braves' seven-game winning streak 9-4. A six-run rally in the

Two New Events in Expansion

NL Rejects Bid For Franchise: Meeting Aug. 2

NEW YORK — The Continental League is pushing ahead, determined to gain recognition as a third major baseball league, and the National League has turned down a bid by Madison Square Garden for a New York franchise.

These two developments Thursday could have a far-reaching influence in the fast-changing field of baseball expansion.

The Continental announced it had agreed on a formula for paying indemnities to invaded minor league cities, its most troublesome immediate problem.

Branch Rickey, Continental president, has agreed to meet with the expansion committees of the American and National leagues Aug. 2 in Chicago. Rickey thinks favorable action would permit admission of his league into organized baseball within 30 days.

Rickey announced a formula to pay five invaded American Assn. clubs on the basis of 40 cents for each admission in the year in which major league status is granted.

He said Ed Doherty, American Assn. president, had agreed to consider the plan. The five franchises involved are Denver, Houston, Dallas-Ft. Worth, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The Continental would operate Minneapolis-St. Paul as one franchise.

A similar proposal has been made to the International League from which the Continental expects to take Buffalo and Toronto. The same deal probably will be offered the Southern Assn. for Atlanta. The eighth member of the Continental is New York, ruled an "open city" by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Rickey said his league had drafted a formal application that will show full compliance with all the rules (10 points) set down by organized baseball.

The Garden offer for a National League franchise came as a surprise.

Admiral John E. Bergen, chairman of Graham - Page Corp. which owns the Garden, wired President Warren G. of the National League that formal application will be made for a franchise. He said "preliminary investigation indicates that we can conclude satisfactory arrangements for leasing of playing facilities at Yankee Stadium or the proposed new City Stadium."

Giles quickly threw cold water on the Garden's plans. "I told him (Adm. Bergen) I appreciate their interest in the National League," said Giles. "But we are not in a position to discuss with anyone at this time any application for a franchise in the National League."

Larsen Pitching Well, But Weather Rough

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Don Larsen, who won fame with a World Series perfect game in 1956 but faded from the majors four years later, found the going rough Thursday night in his third step toward a return to the big show.

But it was Texas weather—86 degrees and humid—and not wildness or lack of pitching ability that felled him.

Kansas City sent Larsen down to Dallas-Fort Worth of the Class AAA American Assn. July 9. He already has worked in three games, winning the first with a 3-hit performance, losing the second although hurling 5-hit ball for 7 1/3 innings—and then there was Thursday night.

Larsen started against Indianapolis, pitched 3-hit ball for six innings and left the game with the score tied 1-1. He struck out five and walked one.

Manager Jim Fanning, who said he had been working Larsen hard—"I ran him plenty"—in order to get him in condition for a return to the majors, asked the pitcher how he felt. Larsen said he was weak and losing his stuff.

Sox Challenge Leaders

Yankee Stadium Showdown Series

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

The first showdown series of the year opens tonight at Yankee Stadium where the New York Yankees, nursing a one-game lead, take on the second-place Chicago White Sox in the first of four games.

It will be White Sox speed and sound pitching against the Yanks' home-run power and wobbly pitching in the series that overshadow other doings in the American League. They will play one game tonight, Saturday afternoon, and two Sunday. The Yanks hold a 7-4 season edge winning the last seven from the Sox.

Most of the league spent Thursday on the road, but Detroit managed to climb into a fifth-place tie with Washington by beating the Senators 9-5 in the only game played. Frank Lary, helped by Dave Sisler, managed to hold enough of an early 7-0 lead to offset Washington's late home run power.

Jim Lemon hit his 22nd and 23rd and Harmon Killebrew his eighth, but the Senators never could catch the Tigers. Rocky Colavito's 20th homer with two on in the fifth inning helped build up Lary's lead.

In the National League, Pittsburgh widened its lead to 1 1/2 games by downing Los Angeles 4-1 on a pair of home runs by Hal Smith, after Milwaukee had lost to St. Louis 9-4, breaking a seven-game winning streak. Robin Roberts of Philadelphia pitched a one-hitter against San Francisco, winning 3-0, and Chicago whipped Cincinnati 8-1.

For the opener at Yankee stadium, Manager Casey Stengel has

Kaline Is Suffering From General Fatigue

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers believe they finally have found the reason for Al Kaline's season-long batting slump. The once-slugging outfielder is suffering from fatigue.

Kaline admitted Thursday night he has been feeling rundown for "quite a while."

He said he did not want to say anything about it because, "I didn't want it to sound like I was making excuses for a lousy year."

Dr. Russell Wright, Tigers' physician, said Kaline has low blood pressure and is "generally fatigued." He said the 25-year-old outfielder, who won the American League batting title in 1955 with a .340 mark, will be put on a high-potassium diet of special foods to build him up.

Kaline is batting only .238 this season, with nine home runs and 38 runs-batted-in.

US Corporations Blowing Hot and Cold on Stocks

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Earnings reports of American corporations are blowing hot and cold on the stock market these days and also on the confidence of businessmen and consumers.

Record profits for the first half of 1960 jostle declines. Industries are sharply divided as to the upside and the downside. And within industries some giants show losses while their nearest competitors report gains over the first half of their previous fiscal year.

A sizable number of companies report record sales but lower net income after taxes, largely because of rising costs of doing business.

But in the first rush of half-year earnings three out of five companies are reporting a better profit year so far than last.

Cash dividends for the first six months of 1960 were 6 1/2 per cent higher than a year ago, the Department of Commerce reports.

Most of the largest companies are yet to report, and many are in industries that have been hardest hit by the decline in output, sales and earnings in recent months.

For example, eight steel companies have reported so far, seven showing a decline in profits from 1959's first half. The drop for the group as a whole is 37 per cent, a poor augury for next week when the biggest steel companies report.

For another example, five out of seven railroads so far reporting show declines for a group drop of 26 per cent. And in the first five months of the year the Assn. of American Railroads estimated earnings of all roads with operating revenues of at least three million dollars a year trailing last year by 17 per cent. When the rest of the roads report for the entire six months the picture is unlikely to be brighter.

The 11 chemical companies reporting to date show three down and eight up, but giant Du Pont's 6 per cent drop brought the whole group down for a 4 per cent decline.

Some industries are doing very well. The electrical equipment makers so far are running 2 per cent ahead of last year, despite a drop reported by General Electric, the largest. This was offset by increased earnings by the second largest, Westinghouse.

Food companies are reporting increases this year, the meat packers showing up strong, for one. Textile and tobacco companies indicate earnings running ahead of a year ago, and so do makers of TV and radio sets.

When all reports for the entire first half are in, earnings are expected to be running close to what they were in the previous year, with very little percentage gain or loss looked for.

But the early reports, with a major sprinkling of companies in the more favored industries, are running well ahead of last year.

To date, 263 companies have reported for the first half of their fiscal year, for a total profit of $1,459,280,000, a gain of 16.6 per cent over the $1,251,373,000 earned by the same companies a year ago.

months of the year the Assn. of American Railroads estimated earnings of all roads with operating revenues of at least three million dollars a year trailing last year by 17 per cent. When the rest of the roads report for the entire six months the picture is unlikely to be brighter.

The 11 chemical companies reporting to date show three down and eight up, but giant Du Pont's 6 per cent drop brought the whole group down for a 4 per cent decline.

Some industries are doing very well. The electrical equipment makers so far are running 2 per cent ahead of last year, despite a drop reported by General Electric, the largest. This was offset by increased earnings by the second largest, Westinghouse.

Ike to Receive Oil Portrait At Convention

CHICAGO (AP) — When President Eisenhower attends the Republican National Convention in Chicago next week, he'll receive an oil portrait of his granddaughter, Susan, 8.

Eisenhower, who wears an artist's brush himself, will receive a portrait painted by a Chicago housewife, who is a part-time portrait artist.

Helen Sowa Flynn used a newspaper photograph for her painting. The Associated Press photo, titled "A Proud Grandpapa," showed President Eisenhower with Susan when she won a ribbon and a silver tray last fall during the South Mountain Fair Horse Show at Endsfield, Pa., near Gettysburg. Susan was riding the President's favorite mare, Goldie, in the Adams County Pleasure Class competition.

The picture shows Susan in charming inattention to what is happening around her as she holds the tray to pose for the photographer.

Printed in a Chicago newspaper, it caught the eye of Mack Gilman, director of portrait center gallery. He invited the housewife who paints under the name of Helen Sowa to recreate the moment on canvas.

Helen Sowa received a scholarship at the Art Institute of Chicago school of art during her high school days. During the ensuing 20 years, she has dabbled with palette and brush at home with members of her family as subjects. Her son is her favorite model.

She paints only a few dozen or so portraits on commission during a year.

Helen Sowa's artistic talent seems to stem from the maternal side of her family tree.

Her great-great-aunt, Anna Balinski, in the mid 1800s was one of Poland's top artists.

Sailmakers Union Dwindled Away

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Whatever became of the San Francisco Sailmakers' Union? One of the oldest seafaring crafts, its members kept the windjammers and schooners sailing into and out of this port in the raw days of the building west.

Well, it has dwindled from hundreds to fewer than 20. And Thursday the sailmakers moved to affiliate with the AFL-CIO Seafarers' International Union. It had become too expensive, they said, to maintain their own union.

TV Needs Money for Shows And Less for Advertising

By Ward Cannel
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — As everybody knows, its the commercial that pays for the TV program.

But does the commercial pay for itself?

Do we look, listen and buy the way we're supposed to, considering the expensive thinking, meticulous research and tediously creative process that the advertising agencies pour into the TV sales pitch?

Well, there seems to be some doubt — or at least some question — if you take a look at a few items commonly believed on Madison Ave. and a few recent questions still unanswered.

Item: If as much time and money were spent on a minute of program as is spent on a minute of commercial, the TV broadcast day would be a lot more expensive.

Then how is it that a survey by adman Mike Mooney turns up "too many people for sponsor comfort" who say without hesitation that comedian Jack Benny is sponsored by Jello and emcee Ed Sullivan is sponsored by Lincoln-Mercury? This hasn't been true in either case for years and years.

Item: If as much consumer research and depth interviewing went into program planning as goes into ad campaigns, the TV lineup might look a lot different.

Then how is it that you can make a telephone spot-check and get numbers of people to say they are faithful viewers of certain show — even though it's been off the air for a couple of years?

Item: At any given moment — now, tomorrow, next Week—TV admen are bringing their "years of experience and skill" to land any number of new accounts.

Then why is it that sponsors change agencies? Or that a program can be top-rated while its sponsoring product's sales fall?

Commercials fail in the presentation. The proof comes out of long-term series of controlled viewers responses to commercials conducted by the Schwerin Research Corp. and reported in its monthly bulletins.

Item: The most frequently depicted figure in commercials is Mother — fixer, feeder, purchaser, nurse, healer, washer, mender, sweetheart, companion—sometimes harried, but always saved by the Right Product at the Right Time.

But just let the little woman be shown — as she often is — confronted by drudgery like unwashed clothes or by maternal incompetence like sickly children BEFORE she discovered Wheato, and whammo, the commercial flops.

SULLIVAN: Cars or Cameras?

On the other hand, let her be the super-efficient jill-of-all-trades, Schwerin has found, and not only will she resent it, but so will her husband.

Item: The battle of the sexes has always been an eye-catcher.

But if she wins, he won't like the commercial. If he wins, she objects. If it's a stand-off, what good is your pitch?

Item: Love, properly applied, exerts a strong influence on viewers.

But what is the proper application? Most of the time the man's got to do the pursuing or the ladies object. But if you're trying to reach the men, the women have to do the chasing. And where does that leave your commercial?

GOPs Still Work On Nixon-Rocky Ticket

Chance Thin, But Pressure Will Grow

Platform Seen As Catalyst to Draw Them Together

CHICAGO (AP)—Bigwigs of the GOP pulled backstage strings Thursday in hopes that somehow they still can tie together a power-packed Nixon-Rockefeller ticket for the Republican National Convention.

The chances are thin. But the pressure will grow to harness Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in the strongest team the GOP could enter against the Democrats in the great election contest of 1960.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, told a news conference:

"Of course there is always the possibility the platform could be the catalyst to draw them together."

Each, he said, is being consulted on the drafting of the party platform.

The Nixon camp called the vice president's choice of a running mate "still a wide open proposition," with Rockefeller by no means barred.

So Nixon kept a foot in the door, holding it open in case Rockefeller should show even the slightest sign of being persuaded to change his mind and accept a vice-presidential nomination.

He also tapped Rockefeller admirer to place the Nixon name in nomination for the presidency at next week's convention. Nixon's choice was Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, who once had ideas about a Republican ticket of Rockefeller and Hatfield.

Nixon has the nomination nailed down as much as any man in American political history making his first bid for the honor. But Rockefeller still is flirting with the idea that maybe Nixon's strength is something of a flimsy mirage, that it might begin to evaporate, and that the convention might start looking in another direction for its candidate.

Thus Rockefeller still is willing to yield to a draft that he himself concedes is unlikely to blow his way.

As for the vice-presidential nomination, Rockefeller has taken an absolute, positive stand against accepting it himself. Morton and the men speaking here for Nixon and practically everybody else on the convention scene say they take him at his word.

The president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers urged Thursday that the Republicans call for tax cuts to foster economic expansion. The president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce echoed that tax reforms and slashes are needed to encourage investments and so create jobs.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York told the platform drafters only the GOP can end racial discrimination. He challenged the Democrats to put their strong civil rights plank through next month's congressional session.

If they don't, he said, the American people will discover that Democratic campaign promises are "only empty oratory."

Around convention headquarters at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Nixon and Rockefeller rosters were passing out buttons, daggers and banter. But they weren't stirring up much of a dither, either. Rockefeller and Nixon will be parading into town to give their followers an excuse for some whoop-do-doo and high jinks.

The Weather

Considerable cloudiness through Saturday; scattered showers and thunder storms west and north Friday and Friday night; high Friday in upper 80s northwest to lower 90s southeast.

The temperature Thursday was 75 at 7 a.m. and 86 at 1 p.m. Low Wednesday night was 71.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 88; low 67; two years ago, high 70; low 63; three years ago, high 91; low 72.

Lake of Ozarks stage: 58.1 feet; 1.9 below full reservoir; down .1.

AERIAL RESCUE—Donald Ethington, a Brownsfield, Tex., city worker, grabs burned Phillip Reeves from the top of a burning grain elevator at Lubbock, Tex., while swinging precariously from a line attached to the hovering Air Force helicopter. Ethington saved Reeves who had pleaded with a crowd below to "save me, I'm burning alive." for two hours before the rescue could be made. (AP Wirephoto)

Criticizes Methods Of Fighting Fire Which Killed Three

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A special investigating commission Thursday criticized the methods used in fighting a building fire Feb. 22 in which three firemen lost their lives.

The commission's report termed as generally undesirable the use of four master streams of water directed at the blaze while firemen were in the structure.

Each of the streams discharged in excess of 2½ tons of water.

The firemen were killed when the floors of the old building collapsed, burying them in debris.

The commission said the building had serious structural weaknesses not apparent at the start of the fire, and added there was no question the collapse could have resulted from the combined weight of the building and the water.

The commission declined to comment on the "necessity or desirability" of using the master streams technique on the fire under investigation.

City officials declined comment on the report pending completion of the study.

Gov. Blair Returns To Office Thursday

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair returned to his office Thursday and said he felt fine after his hospital stay.

The governor entered the hospital in Los Angeles last week after the Democratic National Convention, suffering extreme fatigue. He flew back to Jefferson City Monday night and entered the hospital here for additional rest.

Third Transatlantic Cable to Open in '63

LONDON (AP)—A third transatlantic cable between England and the United States, costing $33,600,000, will come into operation in 1963, and agreement between the British Post Office and American Telephone & Telegraph Co. disclosed Thursday.

Columbia Doctor's License Is Revoked

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Missouri Board of Registration of Healing Arts Thursday revoked the license of Dr. Robert F. Freeman, Columbia.

The board said its action was based on evidence that Dr. Freeman, who practices as a psychiatrist, "had been guilty of unprofessional and dishonorable conduct in regard to his patients."

Three Soldiers Held In Holdup-Slaying

WAYNESVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Three soldiers were held Thursday in connection with the holdup slaying of a drive-in theater operator at Waynesville.

James Barnhart, 20, was shot once in the stomach about midnight Wednesday and died nine hours later in Pulaski County Hospital.

Held were Pvt. Julius A. Thompson, 24, Anderson, Ind.; PFC Marcus D. Thomas, 28, Springfield, Ohio; and PFC Cleavester Smith, 25, of St. Louis. They are Negroes.

Thompson and Thomas were listed as deserters at Ft. Leonard Wood.

Military police said Smith was traced to the post through license plates on a car used in the holdup.

Fires Rage Through The West

Devour Priceless Timber, Watershed, And Private Homes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hundreds of timber and brush fires—ignited by lightning and whipped into flaming fury by hot, dry winds—raged unchecked throughout the West Thursday.

Fire swirled across fertile valleys, dry plains and timber-dotted mountains through a vast area extending from Mexico to Canada, from the Pacific Ocean to the Rocky Mountains.

The blazes devoured millions of dollars worth of precious timber and watershed, the key defense against spring floods, and consumed more than 30 private homes and other structures.

Thousands of fire fighters in California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Arizona worked ceaselessly to control the flaming destruction.

In South California, forest fires raged in the San Gabriel Valley, threatening private homes as they chewed up more than 41,000 acres. Similar threats hit communities in Idaho and Oregon.

Officials declared Los Angeles County—with the worst fire outbreak in history—a disaster area. A record 2,000 sheriff's deputies rushed to help fire-fighters and evacuate residents of threatened communities.

More than 200 miles north of Los Angeles, fire fighters aided by fog battled a 30,000-acre brush fire adjoining the famed William Randolph Hearst castle at San Simeon. The castle, containing priceless art treasures, was not itself in danger.

A blaze near Downieville, in northern California, has claimed the only life so far Cecil Smith, 30, of Susanville, was killed and four other fire fighters injured when a flaming tree fell on them.

Elsewhere, hungry flames licked at trouble spots in or near Gold Creek, Mont., Kamiah, Idaho. St. George, Utah. Cody, Wyo., Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., Tonto and Coconino national forests in Arizona.

In Southern California, hundreds of children and adults were evacuated from danger areas and housed in makeshift dormitories.

A Snake in a Tub

MOST UNUSUAL—It's not every day that one finds a lengthy black snake in his bath tub with no explanation as to how he got there. Looking at the reptile is Laura Wilson and Billy Wilson, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wilson, and Deborah Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Horton, all of Knob Noster. The snake was in the Horton's bath tub and it's still a mystery how he happened to get there. (Democrat-Capital photo).

Two Nations Ask UN Council To Get Belgium to Withdraw

DEMANDS BELGIANS LEAVE—Demanding the departure of Belgian troops, Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba addresses a press conference in Leopoldville, the Congo. The political opposition started building up a campaign July 20 to oust Lumumba for flirting with the Communist bloc and threatening to call Soviet troops into the Congo. Lumumba returned to Leopoldville late July 19 to try to put down the smoldering political rebellion. (NEA Telephoto)

Soldiers Are From Ghana

Russia Flies Food And Troops to Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Three Soviet planes landed in Leopoldville Thursday with 450 Ghana soldiers and two tons of food, largely sugar and milk. This was the Soviet Union's first positive contribution to the U.N. mission in the Congo.

The Soviet craft—Ilyushin 18s of the Soviet aid line Aeroflot—skipped into the busy airport as Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba packed for a trip to New York.

Lumumba, who complains that his three-week old nation is menaced by United Nations inertia and continued "Belgian aggression," wants to put his case personally before the United Nations Security Council.

A spokesman for the Premier said Lumumba is having difficulty finding a suitable aircraft, but hopes to leave Friday morning.

There was some speculation that one of the Soviet planes might be his choice of transportation for the trip.

Lumumba would not travel by Belgian aircraft, but any one of the scores of American transports landing at the airport could give him a lift to Europe if not to the United States.

The bearded Premier will leave behind him a country gripped in the convulsions caused by mutinous elements in its army, a determined Belgian military effort to protect Belgian citizens and an unstable government which is still based more on Lumumba's aggressive personality than on any unity of purpose.

Some Western sources say they feel Lumumba may even be risking his position as head of the government to satisfy his flair for the spectacular gesture.

Although peace has finally come to Leopoldville, other areas of the country are still held by Congolese army units acting independently of the Congo command.

And one entire province—the rich mining center of Katanga—is trying to establish itself as a separate state with strong assistance from Belgium.

A dissident wing of Lumumba's National Congolese Movement headed by Albert Kalondji took sharp issue Thursday with the Premier's threat to call in Soviet forces.

The Kalondji wing said in a statement it "cannot tolerate the Congo knowing even darker days still, when even now we are deploring the loss of human lives, the cause of which is still not known."

"We are convinced that the United Nations will fulfill its task and we think no others should be admitted to the Congo," it said.

"No Russian intervention is necessary, since it would provoke a third World War which would have the Congo as its starting point."

The unit will stop at Garner, Iowa, Friday night, at St. Cloud, Minn., Saturday night, and arrive at camp about 9 a.m. Sunday. The unit will leave camp Aug. 5, arriving back in Sedalia on the morning of Aug. 7.

Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, Second Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery, will leave Sedalia Friday morning, stop at Belleville, Kan., Friday night, at Ogalala, Neb., Saturday night, and arrive at Camp Guernsey Sunday.

The unit's advance party left Sedalia Tuesday morning.

On the return trip the unit will leave camp Aug. 5, stopping the first night at Imperial, Neb., then at Marysville, Kan., on the second night and arrive back in Sedalia during the afternoon of Aug. 7.

Both units are members of the 35th Infantry Division, Missouri-Kansas Army National Guard.

Widely Known State Demo Leader Dies

NEW LONDON, Mo. (AP)—Hunter Hulise, widely known northeast Missouri Democratic leader, died Thursday of a heart attack at his home in New London. He was 68.

Hulise operated a feed store in New London and was a lifelong resident of Ralls County.

He was active in Democratic politics and helped to direct local campaigns but never held office.

Hulise was a friend of former President Harry S. Truman and a colonel on the staff of Forrest Smith when Smith was governor.

Asian-African Bloc Makes Request Amid Threats

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Ceylon and Tunisia asked the United Nations Security Council Thursday to call on Belgium to speed withdrawal of its military forces from the Congo.

The two nations representing the big Asian-African bloc at the U.N. made their request in a resolution introduced as the 11-nation Council resumed its debate on the crisis-gripped Congo.

The action was requested against a background of threats by the Soviet Union to send soldiers into the Congo, and a warning from the United States that it would take whatever steps necessary with other U.N. members to prevent Soviet intervention.

UN Forces In Control Of Port City

Bloodless Ceremony As Moroccans Take Over City of Matadi

MATADI, the Congo (AP)—A United Nations task force of Moroccan infantrymen took over control of this strategic port city from mutinous Congolese soldiers in a bloodless ceremony Thursday.

Tension persisted. Crowds of Congolese were still looting stores and villas in the European section, abandoned by its 2,000 Belgian civilian residents. Armed deserters roved about.

But the American-trained Moroccans—only about 200 strong—won cooperation from many of the Congolese who had ousted their Belgian officers, fought off Belgian soldiers, paralyzed shipping, and frightened away all but a few of Matadi's white residents over the past 10 days.

A city of around 22,000 in normal times, Matadi is the Congo's chief port. It is on the lower Congo 180 miles down the river from Leopoldville, the capital, and 100 miles inland from the Atlantic.

The U.N. hope is to get supplies of food, oil and other necessities flowing again across its docks.

The light blue U.N. flag was hoisted next to the flag of the Congo over the abandoned European section.

A Moroccan army band blared as Col. Ben Omar Driss formally took command of the city.

A Congolese army unit from a nearby camp paid its respects, smartly presenting arms. Crowds of Congolese gathered to watch.

The European section was abandoned July 11 shortly before a battle between Belgian commandos and Congolese soldiers. Congolese officials say 19 Congolese were killed and 32 wounded in the 10-hour fight. Belgian casualties were not stated.

The Congolese insist the Belgians started the shooting.

About 2,000 Congolese soldiers are in town. There were some reports of Congolese soldiers refusing to accept the authority of the Moroccans.

"We are taking over gradually," a Moroccan officer said. "We must avoid bloodshed."

Green-bereted Moroccan rifle-men with fixed bayonets guarded the city administration building.

Inside, workers sorted packs of clothing and goods looted from stores abandoned by white merchants.

Congolese women in colorful robes, some carrying babies on their backs, came for identification passes and food.

Mo-Pac Assistant Chief Engineer to Retire

ST. LOUIS (AP)—William Hughes Giles, assistant chief engineer of the Missouri Pacific Railroad and a veteran of 46 years with the company, will retire July 31.

Giles, 68, started his railroad career in his home town of Little Rock, Ark., as a ballast inspector at the age of 23.

Where Is Betty Perkins?

Five months ago, on Feb. 20, Betty Sue Perkins, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Perkins, Route 1, disappeared from her home during the night and has not been heard from since.

Betty Sue, a student at Smith-Cotton High School, went to bed on Saturday night, Feb. 20, and was there when the telephone rang about 9 o'clock. The telephone was in her room, so the member of the family wanted went in there to use the telephone. The girl had her bed light turned on and was reading.

On Sunday morning about 7 o'clock the telephone rang and Mr. Perkins, who was just starting out to feed his stock, went into Betty Sue's room to answer it. The girl was gone. The screen had been torn off of the window and the window was up about three or four inches.

This happened just before a severe snowstorm, and it had snowed some the evening before and during the night. Mr. Perkins stated that there were prints of a woman's shoes in the snow leading up to the house, but the snow was not close to the house so they did not know whether the foot prints led to the front porch or the window. There were foot prints of two women leading out to the road, however.

Two nights later the telephone rang about midnight and when Mr. Perkins answered it there was no one on the line. At 2 a.m. it rang again and this time a man's voice asked, when Mr. Perkins answered, if he wanted to know where his daughter was. He said he did, he was told that she was at Glazebrooks, who are neighbors. A check with Glazebrooks revealed that she was not there and had not been.

A few days ago the telephone at the Perkins home rang again at about 2 a.m. and when Mr. Perkins answered there was again no one on the line.

Mr. Perkins said that Betty Sue, the youngest of six children, and the only one at home, had lots of clothes so the mother could not determine what she was wearing. There could not have been more than a change of clothes missing if any.

Betty Sue was about five foot, six, with light brown hair. The Perkins home is west of Anderson School.

Parking Meter Coins Pay For Sedalia Parking Lots

Some People Dislike Paying Quarter Fines

By RALPH JONES

A few weeks ago a Sedalia businessman walked into the police station and paid off 21 one-dollar bonds for overparking tickets. The next day he started all over, and by the end of the month had received 16 tickets. Again he paid off.

Another businessman accumulated 18 overparking tickets before a warrant was issued for his arrest, then he paid off. He received about the same amount of tickets the following month and got mad. He threatened to take the case to court, claiming parking tickets are illegal—that they violate the city anti-litter ordinance.

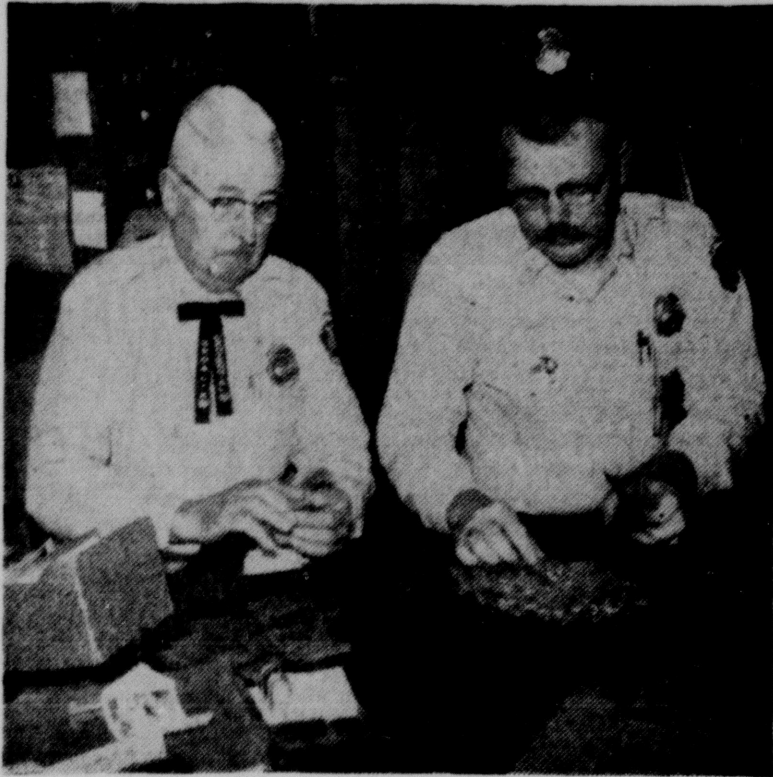

He "blew his top," according to information from sources near the police station, but when it was explained that the anti-litter ordinance applies to littering streets, and not to littering cars, the man paid off.

Fortunately, according to traffic clerk U. L. Howerton, these "repeaters" can be counted on the fingers on one hand. The average citizen, after receiving the red overparking ticket, places the required 25-cent coin in the envelope, places the envelope in one of the convenient receptacles within 24 hours, and the matter is forgotten.

Even though the one-cent coin is not worth much on today's market, it can prevent any of the above incidents from happening, if the owner places it in the parking meter coin slot and turns the handle—for 6 minutes at least.

It is impossible to tell just how many people park at Sedalia meters each day, but an average of 125 people overpark, and pay the 25-cent fee. About seven fail to pay the fee within 24 hours, and post $1 bonds to appear in court, then forget the whole thing. There is one thing parkers should not forget, however, and that is that the meters themselves, their upkeep, the salaries of the meter attendants, plus the construction and upkeep of Sedalia's ten off-street parking lots are paid for out of an expected $80,000 revenue from the city's 1,128 parking meters.

This revenue is from the meters alone, with the exception of a small portion of one-dollar fees collected. The receipts, after they have been tabulated, are deposited to the credit of the parking committee to pay off the revenue bonds sold to construct the new parking lots.

Sedalia is noted throughout Missouri as being one of the first cities of comparable size to complete an adequate parking lot program, according to Harry Naugel, chairman of the parking committee. Under the plan ten lots have been completed and are in use, and an additional lot is to be completed this summer.

The meters in Sedalia are paying off the cost of the lots, and patrons are happy to have a convenient place to park. The meters themselves are as varied as the people who use them.

You can park for 12 minutes or 14 hours, depending on how much money you place in the meter. Take your choice.

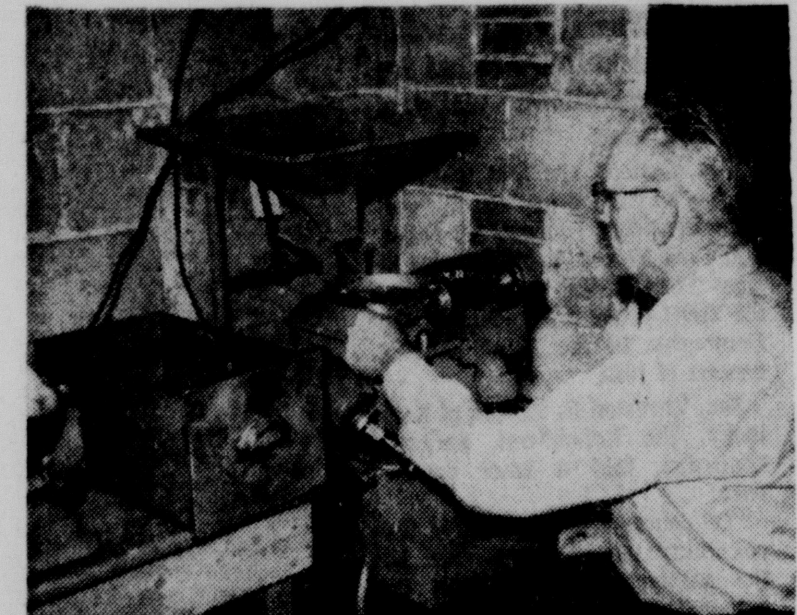

THE LONG ARM of the law reaches out to give an overparker a ticket. Robert Vogler, complete with Centennial mustache says he writes dozens of such tickets daily. The recipient may place a 25-cent coin in the envelope, place the envelope in one of the nearby receptacles and escape further action.

COIN PICKUP - James Green and Larry Gardner make coin pick-ups from Sedalia's on-street parking meters each week, and from the off-street lots each month. The cylindrical container holds about $800 in assorted coins. It weighs some 300 pounds when full.

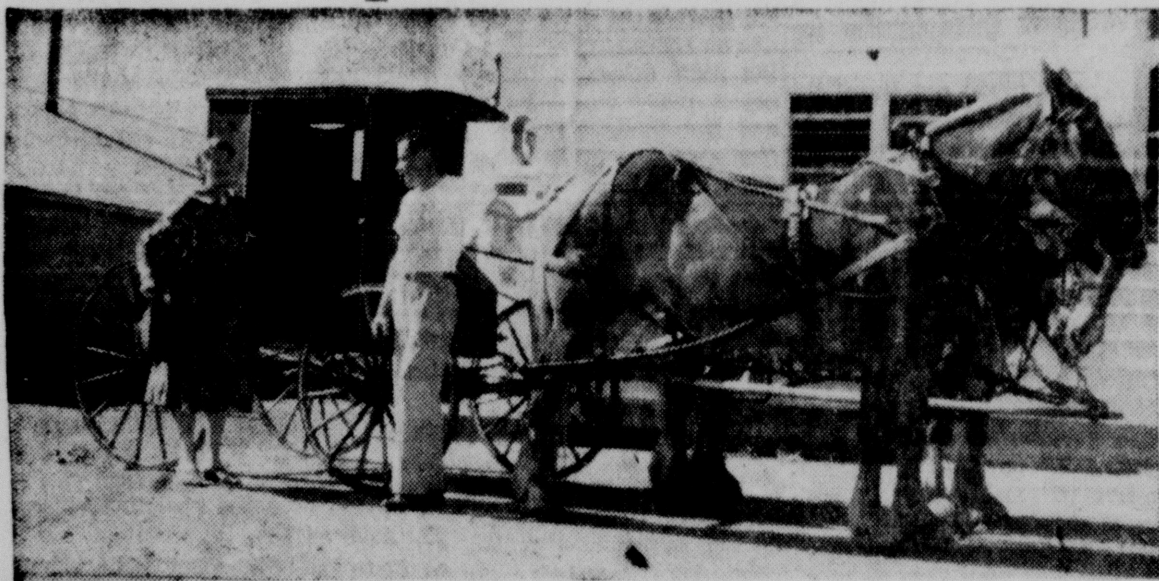

A FAMILIAR SIGHT - One of the parking meter department's two closed scooters used to check more than 1,000 meters in Sedalia. This vehicle is used by Robert Vogler. Larry Gardner the other meterman, uses the other. U. L. Howerton, traffic clerk, has been seen riding as a passenger.

AUTOMATION - Coins picked up from parking meters are turned in to the counting room at the police station, where they are automatically sorted, counted and rolled into containers by James Green. Above is the counting machine in operation. (Democrat-Capital photos)

Mora's Horse-drawn Mail Hack To End Up In Postal Museum

THE LAST RUN—Last week the Mora postmaster received instructions to ship this mail hack to the museum being established in Washington by the Post Office Department. A team of horses was borrowed from Wilbert Hobien, a nearby farmer. Mrs. Lola Stearman, rural carrier who used the hack 33 years ago, shouldered her mail sack to begin her rounds. The run never came off, because just after this photo was taken, Mrs. Stearman decided she had better use her 1957 sedan after all. Keeping the horses quiet is postmaster Alvin Kroenke.

This week marked the end of the road for a horse-drawn "mail hack" owned by the Mora post office for the past 33 years.

The carriage was hooked up as it to make its last run, but it failed to get out of town. Mrs. Lola Stearman, who has been the rural carrier for the past 33 years, decided she had better use her 1957 sedan to make the run.

The rickety old carriage has not seen its best days, however. Some time ago the Post Office Department got wind of the vehicle's existence and last week the Mora postmaster, Alvin Kroenke, received orders to ship the vehicle to the nation's capital, where it will be placed in a Postal Museum, now being established by the Post Office Department.

Mrs. Stearman became rural carrier in July, 1927, and at that time the post office bought the old hack from the retiring carrier. For many years she used it to make her daily rounds, then progressed to Model T Fords and on to newer cars from year to year.

Her route in the horse-drawn hack used to take Mrs. Stearman all day, but her modern car now takes her around in about three hours—even in bad weather. She spends the rest of her working time sorting mail. The route carries her to 92 mail boxes, serving 325 people.

Mora is a small town, located three miles east of Highway 65 just south of the Pettis-Benton County line. It has changed little in the past 33 years, according to Mrs. Stearman, who knows everyone in the area.

When asked what the 1960 census for the town was, Postmaster Kroenke began counting by twos and threes and ended up at 33. "Yep," he smiled, "That's how many people we've got."

Mrs. Stearman, now 56, has one daughter and five grandchildren, all living on her route. Mr. Stearman, who formerly operated a store in Mora, has retired. Mrs. Stearman can retire soon, but she may not.

She likes her work.

LIKES HER WORK—For the past 33 years Mrs. Lola Stearman has been sorting out the mail in these same mail boxes. She is the rural carrier of the Mora Post Office. The mailbag, center, is not a fixture. She often uses it to make her regular rounds.

THE NEW WAY—Carrying the mail on her regular route out of the Mora Post Office is a lot easier for Mrs. Lola Stearman. Thirty-three years ago she used horses and buggies. Today she uses a 1957 car. (Democrat-Capital photos)

Abominable Snowman Is Entrancing To Perkins

By EDWARD KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — The Abominable Snowman of the Himalayas is an alluring enigma to zoo-man R. Marlin Perkins.

So the director of Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo has accepted an invitation to join Sir Edmund Hillary on an expedition to the Himalayan Mountains.

Hillary, world-famed adventurer and conqueror of Mt. Everest, will lead a party of 14 scientists and explorers into Nepal in September. Perkins will serve the expedition as zoologist.

"The reason I'm interested," he says, "is that something in the Himalayas leaves strange foot tracks."

"They have been photographed and are different from any known thing. Zoologists can't identify the tracks or the creature, so it bears investigation."

The mysterious tracks have been reported by native Sherpa and Yeti tribesmen in Nepal and in mountain passes in Tibet. One Sherpa claims to have seen the creature. He described it as "very tall" and standing "on its hind feet."

The snowman's body, except the face, is reported covered with thick, reddish brown hair. Descriptions of the tracks vary from four-toed and 8 inches long to five toed and 12 inches long. The creature's height is variously described as average man-size to eight feet tall.

The Snowman search is only one part of the $200,000 Hillary expedition, which is sponsored by Field Enterprises Corp., publisher of an encyclopedia.

The Snowman search is only one part of the $200,000 Hillary expedition, which is sponsored by Field Enterprises Corp., publisher of an encyclopedia.

Hillary plans to assault 27,702-foot Mt. Makhan without the aid of oxygen. He also plans to conduct tests of human endurance among men left in quarters high in the Himalayan range.

Perkins, 54, became widely known while heading the network TV show "Zoo Parade." He also has built a reputation as an intrepid explorer with snake hunting trips in Africa, South and Central America and the Western United States.

The Hillary expedition plans its early fall start in order to take advantage of new snowfalls for tracking the Snowman.

Exquisite Nests

The most beautiful nests are built by the hummingbird, whose nest is an exquisite cup less than two inches across and made of felt, plant, fern or dandelion-seed down. Covered perfectly with moss and lichens, it is fastened with spider webs so as to appear a mere protuberance on the limb.

Benton H. Ingram Was One Of First Sedalia Settlers

By HAZEL LANG

Among the first young men to come to the brand new town of Sedalia was Benton Howard Ingram, for whom Ingram Avenue was named, and the only man from the Sedalia Masonic Lodge ever to be grandmaster of the Masonic Lodge of the State of Missouri.

Ingram was born in Springfield and grew up there, where he was employed in a drug store. When the Civil War broke out so did an epidemic of smallpox in Springfield, and because he had had the disease he was kept there to take care of those who had smallpox.

He came to Sedalia in 1863 and in 1864 opened a general merchandise store on the wide thriving business street of the new town which was called Main Street. Main Street was where it is now, on the south side of the Pacific tracks, and on the north side was the residential district.

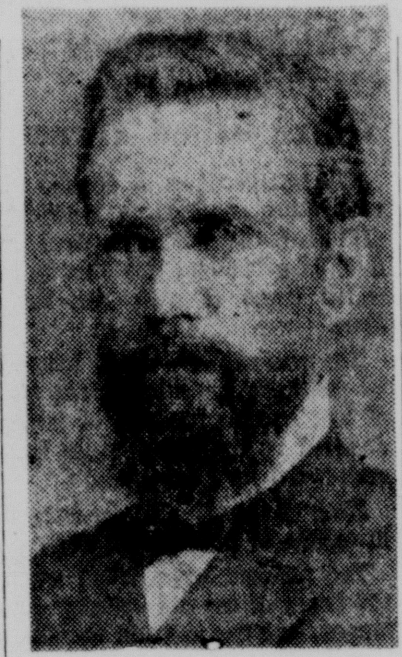

One of the families that had settled in Sedalia at its beginning was George Faulhaber and his wife, Elizabeth, who had moved here from Jefferson City. Faulhaber, who played an important part in early Sedalia growth was mayor in 1878-79. It was when pretty little Maria Grimshaw, who was born in England, but, with her family had come to this country and to Jefferson City, came by train for a visit with her sister, Elizabeth, that Benton Ingram first saw the girl he wanted to marry.

After he and Maria were married, Benton built a little home in the new residential district of the town, right next door to the Antes family. They were very happy in their little new home and then came their first child. They called her Nellie, but as Nellie grew older she didn't like the name, so she dropped the "ie" and became Nell.

Mr Ingram always had his eyes open for something better, and he considered buying the ground where the Third National Bank now stands, to build a new home, but decided against it, because it was such a long distance away.

A railroad shops was built in the east part of town near the

Benton H. Ingram

Union depot which was located at Third and Engineer, and Benton Ingram decided that the town was going east — so he purchased a lot of land in East Sedalia and built a little cottage in the middle of the block where the John H. Bothwell Memorial Hospital now stands. Two members of the family still reside in Sedalia; the two youngest, Juliet, who is now Mrs. W. O. Harris, and Bess Ingram, who lives at Broadway Arms. The other three children are dead.

It was a gay and beautiful home, which, when finally completed had nine rooms. It was of red brick with green shutters and was surrounded by a fence and a board walk, which, of course, was the type of walks used in those days. Charlie always liked to build things and when he was old enough he built the fence and the walk. There were many huge trees in the big yard and from the highest branches hung swings. There were hammocks, too, and turning poles, croquet sets and just every type of play equipment that youngsters had in those days, so it was a gathering place for all the children in the neighborhood and even beyond, and so the Faulhaber children came often. It was just like a public park.

It was in 1871 that a fire de-

Women In Leading Role At Democrats Convention

By FRANCES LEWINE
AP Newsfeatures

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT — Although not a delegate this time, Mrs. Roosevelt has been invited to be a Democratic Convention speaker once again. But, she has said, her primary concern at Los Angeles will be promoting the nomination of Adlai Stevenson for a third try at the presidency.

Mrs. Roosevelt at 75 is chairman of the Civil Rights Advisory Committee of the Democratic Advisory Council — charged with drawing up recommendations for a civil rights plank for the Democratic party platform.

Mrs. Roosevelt, affectionately regarded by most Democrats, has been active in politics since the early 1920s and is credited with getting party recognition of the importance of women in political organizations.

She was the first wife of a President to address a national convention when she spoke in 1940, the year FDR was nominated for a third term. She has spoken often since.

In 1952, convention delegates gave her a 15-minute ovation and presented a scroll acclaiming her "an American citizen of the world."

MRS. RUDD BROWN — Mrs. Brown, granddaughter of the

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

"silver-tongued orator." William Jennings Bryan, will be a member of the powerful 81-vote California delegation.

Tall, attractive, 39-year-old Mrs. Brown, wife of Cal Tech Scientist Harrison Brown, is also running a second time for Congress from her state's 21st district.

Mrs. Brown's famed grandfather three times was an unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate.

Her mother, the late Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde was a congresswoman from Florida.

MRS. VEL PHILLIPS — Mrs. Phillips, who made history as the first woman alderman in Milwaukee in 110 years, is co-chairman of the convention committee on rules and order of business.

She was the first Negro in modern times to be named by either party as chairman or co-chairman of any of the four standing committees.

Mrs. Phillips also was the first Negro woman of the Democratic National Committee, when she was elected in 1958.

Mother of two boys, she is active in law practice in Milwaukee with her husband, Dale Phillips.

MRS. MARGARET PRICE — Mrs. Price has the distinction of being the first woman chairman of the Committee on Permanent Organization.

There hasn't been a woman head of one of the major Democratic convention committees since 1948, when veteran politician Mrs. Mary T. Norton, congresswoman protégé of boss Frank Hague of Jersey City, N.J., was credentials committee chairman.

Mrs. Price moves into the post held in 1956 by Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, now the convention chairman.

A native of New York, now living in Ann Arbor, Mich., 58-year-old Mrs. Price has virtually been commuting between her home state and Brazil where her husband, Hickman Price, is representative for an automotive export firm.

Active in politics since the 1940s, she was defeated when she ran in 1948 and 1950 for the post of state auditor general in Michigan. A delegate to the past two conventions, Mrs. Price also has been active as a member of several Michigan welfare and youth organizations.

REP. EDITH GREEN (D-ORE) — Mrs. Green goes to the convention as chairman of the Oregon delegation—first woman ever to hold such a post at a major party groups.

Membership Drive Plaque Is Won by the BPW Club

The Civic Club plaque for turning in the most points in the recent Chamber of Commerce membership drive was presented by Gene Cook, director of the membership division of the Chamber, to Mrs. Marguerite Scott, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, at the monthly dinner meeting of that organization. This is the second year straight the BPWC has won the Civic Club plaque, the top award in the drive.

Each Civic Club was asked to have two teams participate in the drive with awards, also, for the individual teams bringing in the most points. The Business and Professional Women's Club had two winning teams, one composed of Mrs. Jessie Goist, and Mrs. Sue Dyer placing second as a team and one composed of Mrs. Irene Dirck and Mrs. Betty Yeager, placing fourth as a team.

Cook commended the club in his presentation of the plaque, and stated he had never been in a town where women work on so many projects.

Dave Wallington, a member of the chamber membership committee, was also present and made a short talk on the outstanding civic work being done by the club.

The program of the evening was presented by the program coordination committee. Miss Doris Stott, chairman, introduced the chairmen of the various committees each of whom told briefly of the duties of her committee.

The first speaker was Mrs. Goist, president-elect, membership chairman, who stated that the job of her committee is to increase membership and explained that 75 per cent of the members must be actively engaged in a business or profession. There are to classes of membership, active and honorary. The committee must also assume the duty of early collection of dues and plan the membership meeting.

Mrs. Sophia Crosslin, career advancement chairman, stated that her committee selects a girl for Girl State, sponsors a Sophomore Girls Tea, sponsors essay contest, and will participate in numerous activities for girls.

Mrs. Mary Harlan, public affairs chairman, explained that her committee engages in community activities and cooperates with civic clubs in various events. This committee has one of the outstanding meetings of the year, which will be held this year on Oct. 13.

Mrs. Madeline Burke, chairman of the finance committee, announced that she was chairman of another committee, also, the Centennial committee and asked that members wear Centennial costumes to the next meeting. As chairman of the finance committee, she said, it is the job of the committee to develop a sound financial budget.

Mrs. Opal Hugelman, chairman of the legislative committee, stated that one duty of her committee is to get the vote out on election day of the members of the club.

Mrs. Sylvia Stumpf, special projects chairman, stated that it is the duty of her committee to plan money making projects and the first one will be a white elephant booth during Street Bazaar Days.

Mrs. Vivian Warren, chairman of public relations division, said it is the duty of her committee to get information to all news sources and to keep a permanent file of publicity. To see that events of Business Women's Week are publicized and to keep good public relations.

Mrs. Dorothy Huddleston, chairman of the telephone committee, said the duties of her committee are to discuss projects on international affairs, to better understand the problems and women of other countries. She stated, too, that it was the duty of the committee to make foreign wives feel that they are welcome in the community.

Mrs. Ethel Pugh, chairman of the music committee, told of plans to continue the Glee Club and of the special music and group singing for each meeting.

Mrs. Maurine White, national security committee, pointed out that it was the purpose of her committee to acquaint people with the need of defense and the responsibility of American citizens.

Mrs. Lilla Deal, chairman of hospitality, told of providing hostesses, to welcome members and to see that cards are sent when needed.

The BPWC went on record as endorsing the Pettis County Health Service.

The report of the scholarship committee, of which Miss Mary Ellen Merrill is chairman, was given by Mary Harlan. This committee is to offer an opportunity to girls who have been approved by three trustee loans to complete their education. The girls start paying back loans six months after they go to work at two per cent interest. The money is from the memorial fund.

Mrs. Beulah Yancey, honorary member, was introduced and talked briefly.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Marguerite Scott, president with invocation by Miss Erna Ann McClure.

Singing was led by Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter with Mrs. Ethel Pugh at the piano.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Kay Hunter, Mrs. Mary Harlan, Mrs. Margaret Ferguson and Miss Doris Stott, sang a group of patriotic songs, with Mrs. Ethel Pugh at the piano.

Guests were: Mrs. Selma Kueck State of California; Mrs. Dorothy Owen, Mrs. Palmer Nichols, Mrs. John Alford, Fort Rucker, Ala.; Mrs. Herman Newman, New Orleans and Mrs. Robert Schmilch, Arcadia, Calif.

United In Marriage

Miss Phyllis Baker, California, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baker, California, and Larry Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Martin, Clarksburg, were united in marriage at half past seven o'clock Saturday evening, June 25. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ivan Dameron at his home in Clarksburg.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Rex, California.

They will reside at the Jack Wood Apartments, California. The bride is employed at Pohlman's Film Developing Service, California, and the groom works at Dickson's Service Station in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin were honored with a shower at the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church, north of Clarksburg on Friday night, June 24.

Record Is Set At Camdenton J-Bar-H Rodeo

CAMDENTON, Mo. (AP) — A steer wrestling record for the J-Bar-H Rodeo was set Friday night. Buck Rutherford of Lenap, Okla., downed his steer in 4.8 seconds. The previous fast time was 5.7 seconds.

A crowd of 11,250 saw the eighth performance of the nine-day rodeo.

Finals in all events will be tonight, with $16,875 in prize money being distributed.

Friday night's other winners: Wild horse race — Freckles Brown, Lawton, Okla.

stayed the general store of Benton Ingram's and he lost not only the contents of the store but much of the money owed him by customers who had not paid. One old lady, however, wanted to square her account, and so she brought him a feather bed. Mrs. Ingram made the feather bed into pillows and Mrs. Harris and Miss Ingram still have pillows made of those feathers. He went in the Life and fire insurance business after that.

"Papa," as the children called him, saw the need of a larger living room for Nell was growing up and the other three children were coming along, too, so he knocked out a portion to make a large room. In it was a black mantel with goldleaf which the children watched the man put on. They were fascinated by the way he would now and then rub the side of his head with the brush leaving a gold streak in his hair. There was a big square piano in the room, too, which came from Philadelphia.

The home was filled with laughter for there were many parties, and the young people, Nell's crowd, would put down the tarpaulin over the carpet, and dance on it, because this was before the time of hard wood floors.

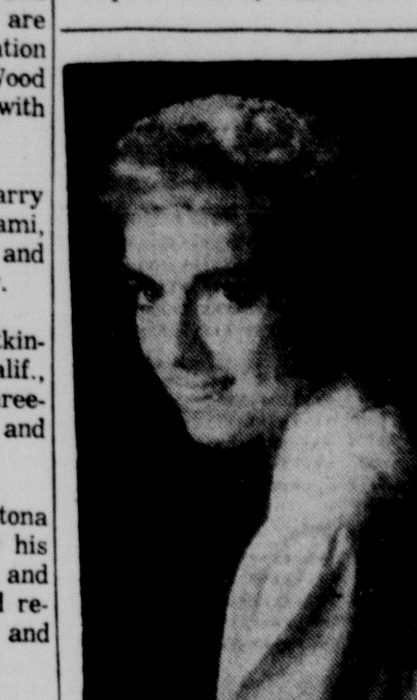

Nell had grown into a very beautiful young lady with brown eyes and blonde hair, and was graduated from Miller's Seminary at the northwest corner of Broadway and Lamine. She was the only graduate in her class.

About that time a cousin came over from England for a visit and she wanted to take Nell back to England with her for a few months. Papa studied it over. He had planned to send her to college and he couldn't do both, but maybe this was better than going to college. Mama was afraid Nell was so young, but the cousin said she would even bring her back home. And while tongues wagged and heads shook at the shocking thing the Ingrams were doing, allowing their daughter to go to England, Nell was the first girl from Sedalia to go abroad — but people thought it was terrible.

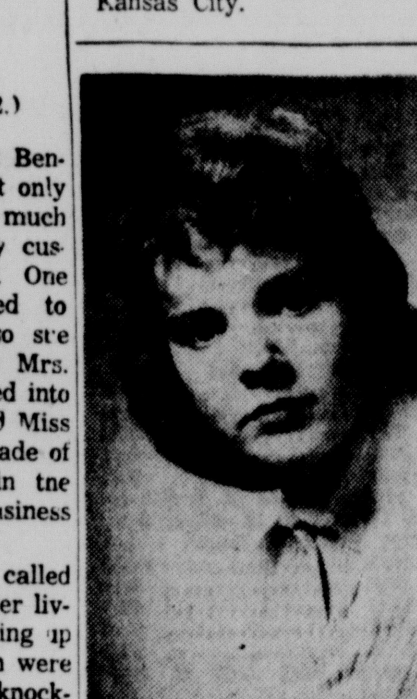

When she was returning from England there was to be a program on the boat, and Nell, who was an accomplished elocutionist was on the program. So was a young Englishman by the name of Edmund G. Walton, who was a violinist. They met that way and then one day after she was home she received a pressed flower and the name of the ship. She acknowledged it and there were more notes and letters, plus ten visits to Sedalia by Walton. He was really something to see for the other side of the tracks when the town was first started. Then she died and several years later Charlie died.

The big brick home where they lived was converted into a hospital and later burned down. The little brick hospital was built, which was later used for the nurses home, until the new wing of the Bothwell Hospital was built.

"We had a happy childhood there," said Mrs. Harris, who remembered how Mr. Walton used to take Nell buggy riding and she always got to go with him to take the buggy back and then could walk home with him.

And Bess remembered the Christmas mornings when they would stand in line outside the living room door waiting to get in to see what Santa brought. She was the baby so she was always the last one to get in the room. One day she found an onion in her stocking and she thought she had to eat it or Santa wouldn't come again — but Papa found her in time.

Their house had the first telephone in that part of town, a long thing on the wall with two bells at the top. The city first thought it would put it in the little grocery store then realized the store could be closed at night and so asked Mr. Ingram if it could be put in his house in case of emergency in that part of town. One time Bess sang a little song over the telephone — she thought to Papa, but it wasn't Papa on the other end of the line — it was some other man.

"Yes," agreed Bess, "we had a happy childhood."

(Editors' Note — Eugene Levin of The Associated Press bureau in Rome has closely watched the political maneuverings of Italy's big Communist party and has covered the riots in Italy since they began two weeks ago.)

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP) — Bloody Communist rioting, aimed at ousting Premier Fernando Tambroni's Christian Democrat government, appeared today to have backfired and to have strengthened his hand instead.

The rioting, Italy's worst in years, has brought death to 10 and injuries to more than a thousand — both demonstrators and police. No major Italian city has escaped the disorders during the past two weeks.

Communist orators have repeatedly demanded that Tambroni must go or, as one pro-Communist senator put it, Italy will "be a government of civil war."

But the strife seems to have united the warring factions of Tambroni's Christian Democrat party behind him, at least for the present, and to have made it more difficult for the Fascists to withdraw their support from him.

Tambroni's government was a shaky one when it came to power in April. The left wing of the Christian Democrats openly opposed the government. Tambroni needed Fascist votes to survive a vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies. The Communists and Socialists on the left, and Liberals and the Monarchists on the right, all opposed Tambroni.

A week ago the Premier looked as if he was in trouble. In the early stages of the rioting, Communist demonstrators forced the government to order the cancellation of a Fascist national congress in Genoa. Irate Fascists threatened to withdraw their support from the government. They said it should have given them more protection.

But in the past three days violent rioting has created a new, critical situation in which the Fascists are expected to think twice before opposing Tambroni. And some say the Liberals and Monarchists might have second thoughts too if matters come to a head in a confidence vote. Tambroni's big test is expected to come Tuesday when both houses of Parliament debate the rioting.

In the meantime, Tambroni is acting like a man determined to subdue the violence without compromise.

the other side of the tracks when the town was first started. Then she died and several years later Charlie died.

The big brick home where they lived was converted into a hospital and later burned down. The little brick hospital was built, which was later used for the nurses home, until the new wing of the Bothwell Hospital was built.

"We had a happy childhood there," said Mrs. Harris, who remembered how Mr. Walton used to take Nell buggy riding and she always got to go with him to take the buggy back and then could walk home with him.

And Bess remembered the Christmas mornings when they would stand in line outside the living room door waiting to get in to see what Santa brought. She was the baby so she was always the last one to get in the room. One day she found an onion in her stocking and she thought she had to eat it or Santa wouldn't come again — but Papa found her in time.

Their house had the first telephone in that part of town, a long thing on the wall with two bells at the top. The city first thought it would put it in the little grocery store then realized the store could be closed at night and so asked Mr. Ingram if it could be put in his house in case of emergency in that part of town. One time Bess sang a little song over the telephone — she thought to Papa, but it wasn't Papa on the other end of the line — it was some other man.

"Yes," agreed Bess, "we had a happy childhood."

New VA Law Ups Limit on Child Income

Custodians and legal guardians of minor children receiving death pension from the Veterans Administration would be wise to elect pension under the new pension law according to W. F. Fidler, officer-in-charge of the Sedalia Veterans Administration at 208 South Lamine.

The new law raises the income limit for children from $1400 to $1800 per year. Earned income of the child is not included in this limit under the new law as it is under the old law.

Pension rates for children are higher under the new law. For example, a child receiving $27.30 per month under the old law can receive $35 a month under the new law after July 1. Two children, each receiving $20.47 per month under the old law, may each receive $25 a month under the new law, provided the custodian of each child elects the new law.

There is no instance in which election of the new law will prove to be disadvantageous to the child, Fidler said.

The new law has a net worth test, but the VA will not accept an election of the new law if the net worth of the child would bar payments under the new law.

Identified as One Of Two Men Who Robbed Supermarket

JOPLIN, Mo. — Calvin Hugh Foster, 26, of Kansas City, was identified Thursday by a cashier at the supermarket in Grandview, Mo., as one of two armed men who held her up July 2 and escaped with $11,000.

Foster and a companion, Jesse DeFoster Mattucks, 36, also of Kansas City, were sentenced Wednesday to 30 days in the city jail after pleading guilty to charges of carrying concealed weapons.

Foster and Mattucks also were identified by clerks of supermarkets in Nevada, Mo., and St. Joseph as the armed bandits who held them up recently.

Police Capt. Walter Flenner said Mattucks admitted complicity in the Grandview holdup Wednesday but Foster contended he was in California.

Flenner said the owner of a bar in Miami, Okla., held up by two armed men on June 22, failed to identify Foster and Mattucks as his assailants.
